Ashville Woman Is Killed In Auto Crash Near Duvall

FIRST FATALITY — Kathryn Louise Harris who was driving the car on the right was killed Tuesday near Duvall. She was Pickaway County's first highway fatality of 1968. Two other persons were hospitalized as a result of the crash.

Kathryn Louise Harris, 53, Ashville, was killed in a head-on crash 4:58 p. m. Tuesday on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road near Duvall.

Mrs. Harris is the first highway fatality in Pickaway County in 1968. Suffering serious injuries in the accident were Clara Swayer, 79, Groveport, and Sarah Jane Robinson, 28, Ashville.

The Harris and the Swayer vehicles were demolished. Mrs. Shirey's auto was not involved in the actual collision.

The accident is still under investigation by Deputy George Linder and Deputy James Lockard of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Mrs. Harris was born Jan. 16, 1915 in Ashville, the daughter of James and Mable Anderson Carley. She was a payroll clerk at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

MRS. Harris is survived by one son, James, a member of the U. S. Navy stationed at New Orleans, one sister, Mrs. Mary Cowan, Ashville; three brothers, Clifford, Kentucky, Robert, Ironton and Ralph, Ashville.

Funeral services will be 2 p. m. Friday at the Ashville EUB Church with the Rev. John Morgan officiating.

Burial will be in Harrison Twp. Cemetery. Friends may call at funeral home beginning 7 p. m. Wednesday.

Predict Filibuster Over Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A filibuster against the administration's civil rights bill is taking shape following defeat of a substitute measure backed by Deep South senators and introduction of an open housing proposal.

After three weeks of desultory debate, there were these rapid-fire developments Tuesday on the bill aimed at protecting Negroes and civil rights workers against racial violence:

—The Senate voted 54 to 29 to table and thus kill a substitute offered by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who had been seeking to work out a compromise, said the vote all but ended hopes for achieving such an agreement.

—Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., offered an amendment that would ban discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing except owner-occupied dwellings containing up to four units.

The two actions generated

Bill Presented On Income Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Municipalities could increase their income taxes above 1 percent by a bare majority voter approval at a general or primary election under a bill recommended by the Senate Ways and Means Committee.

Present law requires a 55 percent voter approval at a general election and 60 percent in a primary or special elections. The measure recommended by the committee Tuesday night would require a 55 percent majority at a special election.

Seek Ottawa Man In Fraud Case

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — Putnam County Prosecutor Henry Mittlekamp said Tuesday authorities were seeking a local man in connection with a case involving fraudulent purchase of grain from farmers.

Mittlekamp said authorities are investigating what was described as a series of frauds that may cost farmers in the area as much as a half million dollars. There have been reports farmers had not received payment for grain sold.

talk of a filibuster.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said he favors "extending debate on the civil rights bill as long as is necessary to defeat it."

Mansfield said his intention is "to allow the debate to go on for a reasonable time and then to file a cloture petition and see what results."

To crush a filibuster by putting the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule into effect takes a two-thirds majority of senators voting.

Dirksen said he didn't think cloture would be voted. He said he would not help a cloture attempt.

Destroyer On Rocks Off Greece

RHODES, Greece (AP) — The U.S. destroyer Bache stuck fast on the rocks off Rhodes today, and the U.S. Navy said she was badly holed and apparently "split from stem to stern."

The 2,500-ton 6th Fleet warship dragged anchor and went aground Tuesday, driven by hurricane force winds and high seas. The weather suited today, and a flotilla assembled to help the Bache.

Rear Adm. V. G. Lambert arrived from Crete with an 11-man investigating team. A helicopter took them to the ship stranded just outside Rhodes harbor.

The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and two more American destroyers also arrived. They and the Bache are ships of the U.S. 6th Fleet, which patrols the Mediterranean. Three tugs were on the way from Piraeus, 300 miles away, and another was coming from a nearby island.

Harbor officials said 204 members of the crew were brought ashore during the night in rubber dinghies. There were no reports of any injuries. The ship's captain, Cmdr. Edward A. Broadwell of Birmingham, Mich., and 28 other men were still on board.

The Bache anchored outside Rhodes harbor where it arrived Monday on a goodwill visit. Hurricane force winds drove it aground.

Bloodmobile Here Thursday

Appeal Made To All Donors

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit the Circleville area for the second time this year 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Thursday at the First Methodist Church.

After a disappointing visit in January which netted only 70 pints of blood, a call has been extended to all prospective donors by Blood Program officials.

The quota for each month of the eight visits this year is 125 pints. One more "poor turnout" will put us dangerously close to probation, a spokesman said today.

Baby-sitting services and transportation will be available by calling the Red Cross office or the First Methodist Church basement after 11 a. m. tomorrow.

ALL Pickaway Countians and their immediate families are eligible to receive blood free of charge through the local Red Cross program. However, several cases recently have depleted the reserve by family members residing outside of Pickaway County and it is urgent the reserve be built up again, the spokesmen said.

An open heart surgery case later this month is expected to require additional blood. Mrs. Melvin Struckman is scheduled to receive the delicate operation and donors may give blood at tomorrow's visit in her name.

An all-out appeal was made today for everyone able to give blood tomorrow to make the effort. Delay for donors may be minimized by phoning 474-5736 for reservations.

Solons Pass One Ordinance During Lengthy Session

Health Department To Provide "much needed additional space"

Circleville Council, during a session of 95 minutes, passed one ordinance Tuesday. The ordinance released the White Brothers Construction Co. from a $6,000 performance bond. It was a routine procedure followed after a contractor has performed specified duties, in his case the grading and paving of Kimberly Place.

The ordinance was passed after a first reading under a suspension of the rules.

Four recommendations submitted by Mayor Richard Gerhardt were referred to appropriate committees for further study.

A recommendation that new facilities be obtained for the health department to provide "much needed additional space" was turned over to the Service Committee for further study.

A recommendation that the wage scale of the Service Department employees be increased was referred to the Service Committee.

Mayor Gerhardt asked that the service director's salary be increased from $4,400 to $4,600, the chief foreman's salary be increased from $4,680 to $5,200 and that the service clerk's salary be increased to $4,100. In addition he recommended an hourly wage increase for other employees amounting to $832 annually.

He also recommended the clerk of the Service Department be housed in City Hall and the duties of the office be increased. The clerk is presently housed in the service building on E. Ohio St.

Mayor Gerhardt told council the position was originally a parttime post created so there would always be someone at the Service Department to answer the telephone.

The job evolved into a full-time position and certain clerical duties added.

ACCORDING to the mayor, he has a qualified applicant for the position, but the person is presently employed and needs a salary of $4,100 before accepting the job.

The mayor recommended that council pass an ordinance permitting the Service Department to advertise for bids for cast iron pipe and fittings. The recommendation was referred to the Finance Committee.

Councilman Noble Barr asked the Safety Committee to study the possibility of drafting legislation which would prohibit smoking in city business establishments.

4-Way GOP Race Seen in Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A four-way Republican race appears likely in Wisconsin's April 2 presidential preference primary.

Six GOP candidates were chosen for the primary ballot by a nominating committee Tuesday. But within hours, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Illinois Sen. Charles Percy announced they would withdraw by filing disclaimers of 1968

Nixon Happy With Drive In Wisconsin

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon heads westward today after ending his first campaign swing through Wisconsin where he consistently drew overflow crowds and enthusiastic reaction to his arguments, all of which led him to say, grinning, "we're doing very well here."

Nixon spent the last five days in New Hampshire and Wisconsin, states which hold the nation's first primaries on March 12 and April 2, respectively. In his appearances, formal and informal, a pattern took shape which may foreshadow his campaign strategy throughout the primaries. It showed these characteristics:

1. He is campaigning against President Johnson, not Gov. George Romney of Michigan, the only other announced major GOP candidate. In Appleton Tuesday, he said, "I've never campaigned against another Republican and I'm not going to start now."

2. Perhaps predictably, he largely weighted his arguments for the "need for new leadership" on foreign rather than domestic issues.

He criticized the administration's policies on several counts, particularly the war in Vietnam. He said the Soviet Union and its "client states" in the Mediterranean have been the gainers since the Israeli-Arab war last summer. In his view the "great European alliance" is disintegrating.

3. He continually emphasized the future, changing times and the opportunities of youth. He quoted a European statesman as saying the nations today no longer have the "old hates and old guilts."

4. Certain similarities appeared between Nixon's arguments Tuesday and those used against him by John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential campaign.

presidential intentions.

On split votes, the committee rejected attempts to place the names of New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama on the ballot under the Democratic label.

Rockefeller said his selection caused him "embarrassment" because he is supporting Michigan Gov. George Romney. Percy said he planned to "respectfully but firmly" withdraw.

Under Wisconsin's new primary law, a person named by the bipartisan committee can withdraw if he signs an affidavit declaring he does not intend to become a candidate.

If Rockefeller and Percy step aside, the four GOP candidates left on the primary ballot are—in order—Richard M. Nixon, California Gov. Ronald Reagan, Romney, and former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen.

Nixon, Romney and Stassen have launched campaigns in the Badger State.

Reagan, a favorite son candidate in California, indicated he would not have his name removed but would not campaign in Wisconsin.

Romney Puts 'Brainwash' In Campaign

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Gov. George Romney is trying to make a campaign asset out of brainwashing—a word that once dealt him a severe political setback.

Romney doesn't use the troublesome term, but New Hampshire audiences seem to understand his code. He only reminds them that he once used a dramatic word to focus attention on his charge that the government is not telling Americans the truth.

Credibility was a major Romney theme as the Michigan governor rolled northward from Nashua Tuesday seeking presidential primary votes in his campaign for the Republican nomination for the White House. "It's the time the government of the United States told the truth," he said in Laconia. "It's just that simple. I found out some time ago that we're living in a shocking period when you can't believe your own government."

Then he reminded the local Lions Club of the word he doesn't utter: "Everybody's using every word they can think of to indicate we're not being told the truth, except the word I finally used."

Sight UFOs To South Of Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unidentified flying objects hovering over Columbus and parts of southwestern Ohio reportedly were spotted early today by dozens of persons, including police.

The sightings between midnight and 5 a. m. were as far to the south of here as Ross and Highland counties.

Police Sgt. George Curry said he was told by officials at nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base that radar observers said "they got a good, solid return" on their scopes, indicating something was in the sky.

Some observers reported spotting only one object. Others said there were three. All agreed they appeared to be round and bathed in brilliant blue, red and green lights.

Howard Kenny, chief forecaster at the U.S. Weather Bureau at Port Columbus, offered one possible explanation.

He reported that an air inversion—colder air lying closer to the ground than usual—was reported in the areas overnight. This, along with ice crystal pods in cloud clusters, tend to reflect light and magnify moving objects, causing "ghost" or "angel" signals on radar scopes.

Illinois Governor Won't Run Again

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner said today "I choose not to run" for reelection as governor this year.

Kerner, a Democrat, said he talked to Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago and President Johnson this morning about his plans. Both of them said they were sorry he was not running again, Kerner said.

Fierce Fight May Signal Big Battle

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese sent their Russian tanks into the Vietnam war today, apparently for the first time, against South Vietnamese irregulars and their American Green Beret advisers fighting furiously to hold onto a Special Forces camp in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Reports from Da Nang said a Special Forces sergeant had radioed that only five of the 25 Americans in the Lang Vei camp were still alive—he and four others in the headquarters bunker. He reported a knocked-out tank was on top of the bunker.

The U.S. Command said Lang Vei's defenders destroyed five of the nine Russian T34 tanks sent against them.

The massive assault on Lang Sanh, could be the kickoff of the long anticipated offensive along the northern frontier, which Gen. William C. Westmoreland has predicted will be the biggest enemy push of the war, exceeding the furious assaults on South Vietnamese cities and towns last week.

The campaign against the cities, the largest enemy offensive so far, has died down at most points after eight days, but Viet Cong forces still fought stubbornly in Saigon and Hue.

The U.S. Command said the enemy death toll in the past eight days reached 22,748 by midnight Tuesday. It said 1,768 allied troops have been killed, including 614 Americans and 1,130 South Vietnamese.

Military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese began pounding the Lang Vei camp with artillery at dusk Tuesday, then (Continued on Page 2)

Plan Scioto Conservancy District Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The City of Columbus plans to sue the five-county Scioto Conservancy District for recovery of $950,000 it loaned the water planning agency in 1962.

City Atty. John Young said today the suit probably would be filed later this week in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

The long inactive conservancy district covers an area involving Franklin, Pickaway, Ross, Pike and Scioto counties.

City Treasurer Hugh Dorrian said the SCD has been making the annual $30,000-a-year interest payment on the loan but that his attempts to determine the district's financial condition over the past few months have failed.

The district's plans for a flood control dam along Alum Creek in Delaware County were replaced by a federally financed project.

Eisenhower Has 1st Hole-in-One

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower shot his first hole in one Tuesday, carding an ace on the par-3, 13th hole at Seven Lakes Country Club, a club spokesman said.

"This is the first one I've ever made," Eisenhower said to his companions.

He used a No. 9 iron to make the 104-yard shot. The 77-year-old Eisenhower's total score not announced, but he scored an eagle on the par-4 No. 8 hole and barely missed a hole in one on the 18th.

Cold Front Brings Back Wintertime

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A cold front brought winter back to the middle of the nation, but most other sections had reasonably pleasant weather.

Snow whitened an area from the Upper Mississippi Valley to the Upper Great Lakes region and in northern New England.

Sault Sainte Marie, Mich., received 3 inches of snow, and Chicago had 2 inches within a six-hour period.

Falling temperatures were predicted for the Midwest, with sub-zero readings expected in the northern stretches.

Mostly clear skies with mild temperatures were the rule in most of the rest of the country.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 1 above at International Falls, Minn., to 66 at Key West, Fla., and Tucson, Ariz.

Mrs. Robinson sustained a severe laceration of the face.

ACCORDING to witnesses, a car driven by Mrs. Grace Shirey was northbound on the road. She had stopped to turn left into the driveway of a service station.

The car operated by Mrs. Swayer was approaching Mrs. Shirey's car from the rear at a high rate of speed.

Mrs. Swayer swerved to the right, passing the stopped car. Her auto then came back onto the road, went left of center and crashed into the car driven by Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Robinson was a passenger in Mrs. Swayer's car. Both

Cold Front Brings Back Wintertime

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cold front brought winter back to the middle of the nation, but most other sections had reasonably pleasant weather.

Snow whitened an area from the Upper Mississippi Valley to the Upper Great Lakes region and in northern New England. Sault Sainte Marie, Mich., received 3 inches of snow, and Chicago had 2 inches within a six-hour period.

Falling temperatures were predicted for the Midwest, with sub-zero readings expected in the northern stretches.

Mostly clear skies with mild temperatures were the rule in most of the rest of the country.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 1 above at International Falls, Minn., to 66 at Key West, Fla., and Tucson, Ariz.

Attack on Israel By Syria Feared

JERUSALEM (AP) — With Soviet officials expressing worry that the Syrians might attack Israel, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan declared Tuesday night that the Arabs are too weak to start another war without help from a big foreign power.

Dayan expressed the hope and belief that the Soviet Union would not encourage the Arabs to large-scale warfare, but he said Israel must reckon with all eventualities and keep its economy on a war footing.

He told a meeting sponsored by the Jerusalem Students Association, however, that despite Soviet replenishment of Arab arsenals and reorganization of the Arab armies, they have no chance now to defeat Israel on the battlefield.

In Moscow high-ranking Soviet sources said Tuesday that the Syrians might be preparing a desperate attack on Israel in April and that the Soviet government wants to stop them. But although the Syrians get their arms from the Soviets, they have repeatedly refused to help to the Soviet line that political—not military—means should be used to regain Arab land lost to Israel in the six-day June war.

"When it comes to Israel, they don't listen to us," said one Soviet source.

lumbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. has expired. The city is presently paying the electric company an annual fee of $13,235 for the service.

A proposed increase to $15,180 annual rate will be made by the electric company when the negotiations begin for renewal of the contract, Crawford stated.

Crawford also noted the Multi-Channel Cable Co. will ask for a renewal of its franchise soon.

THE company has a franchise to operate a cable television service in the city. However, the legality of the practice has been challenged in courts and no action is being taken by the firm until the courts rule.

Robert Turner announced the finance committee had turned down a request by Mayor Gerhardt to subscribe to a magazine which provides news of city problems and planning throughout the country.

Councilman John Jenkins requested a meeting with the city's new safety director, Robert Adkins. The meeting is scheduled next Tuesday.

Council President Joseph Bell asked Chief of Police Robert Temple and Fire Chief Bernard Wolf for reports of their departments. Both chiefs said their reports had been submitted to the mayor for presentation to council and they were available for questioning.

Ervin Leist, director of public utilities, was at council for the first time since his recent heart attack. He told council his report was in the hands of the mayor.

Harry Clifton presented the annual report of Berger Hospital to council.

CITY Auditor Marvane Turner distributed her annual financial report to councilmen and the department heads.

Robert Adkins informed council that as the new Safety Director, he would be available at any time to discuss problems and information with them.

COUNCIL BRIEFS
Noble Barr said that "the city does not need all the policy changes and rumors that are tearing council and the mayor apart."

"Council and the mayor must work together and decide things together," Barr said.

Boyd Horn asked the mayor again about the policy of directing all complaints to the mayor's office, and asked the policy be clarified on how complaints could be handled.

"I will be happy to share the complaints with council," Gerhardt noted.

Frank Brown, 403 S. Scioto, a member of the large gallery attending last night's session, asked why nothing has been done to mark the crosswalks on Main St.

Councilman John Jenkins noted the Safety Committee had been working for several years on the problem. "The past Safety Director studied the problem for three or four years," Jenkins noted. He explained that it was the duty of the Safety Director and the Chief of Police to come up with a solution to the cross walk problem.

Robert Adkins promised an immediate study of the crosswalks and said he would have a solution within two weeks.

Historical Society Lists Committees

Committees to handle the activities of the Pickaway County Historical Society for the year were announced today by Rex E. Haecker, president.

A major goal of the society for the year will be the completion of the restoration work on the Clark-May home as a museum for Pickaway County.

The request by the officers and directors of the Second National Bank to the society of the old Second National Bank Building will create an enterprising challenge to all members to retain the heritage of the building and to use its facilities effectively, according to Haecker.

Following are the 1968 committees.

Program Committee: Dr. W. L. Sprouse, chairman; Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Joseph W. Adkins Jr., Mrs. Ned Griner, Mark Armstrong.

Membership Committee: Mrs. J. B. Work, chairman; Mrs. George Macklin, William Fischer, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. Pat Yates.

South Carolina Riot Is Quelled

ORANBURG, S.C. (AP) — National Guardsmen were ready to quell any further rioting today after Negro students smashed windows and overturned cars Tuesday night because they were barred from an all-white privately-owned bowling alley.

Gov. Robert McNair issued a post-midnight statement saying the situation had been brought under control.

The disturbance involved at least 550 young Negroes, both male and female. Most are students at predominantly Negro South Carolina State College and Claflin College.

Saxbe Attacks 'Do-Nothings'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe criticized Tuesday night politicians "who retreat . . . and try to excuse their retreat by saying they are voting their conscience."

"In fact, they vote for the status quo—don't rock the boat—at a time when our nation cries out for national solution," Saxbe told Republicans gathered at the Lincoln-McKinley banquet here.

Saxbe, who is seeking his party's nomination for the U.S. Senate, cited President Abraham Lincoln as a leader who "retained to action, not consensus."

Misguided Missile Sinks Rescue Ship

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — The Bullpup missile was aimed at an old barge. Instead, it went off target and sank a Navy rescue ship loaded with 1,200 gallons of aviation gasoline, the Navy said.

All six men on the ship were blown into the water but escaped major injury. A helicopter plucked them from the water 15 minutes later and flew them to a base dispensary for treatment for exposure and minor wounds, a spokesman said.

The missile was fired from an A-4 Skyhawk Navy jet Tuesday morning during firing exercises two miles offshore from the naval air station at Point Mugu. It was supposed to hit a barge under radio command from the Skyhawk.

Navy officials said an investigation would be made to determine how the missile misfired. The name of the pilot was not disclosed.

Highway Toll During 1967 Hit 53,000

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 53,000 persons last year, matching the 1966 toll, but an increase in travel resulted in a lower death rate for distance covered.

In announcing this today, Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, said, "These 1967 traffic statistics support our conviction that the traffic loss of lives and dollars on the highways is an unnecessary expense that the nation can control."

The cost of the 1967 accidents was estimated at $11 billion.

Deaths in December totaled 5,210, up 3 per cent from the 5,040 killed in December 1966.

The 1967 rate was 5.5 fatalities per 100 million vehicle miles, a 4 per cent decrease from the 1966 rate of 5.7 deaths. The record low of 5.2 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles was set in 1961. In 1957 the rate was 6.

Mileage traveled in 1967 rose to 970 billion from 930.5 billion in 1966, an increase of 4 per cent.

The council estimated that traffic accidents caused 1.9 million disabling injuries last year in addition to the deaths.

Of the $11 billion economic loss, 3.5 billion came from damaged and destroyed property and the remainder from wage losses, medical expenses and overhead cost of insurance.

There were 103 million registered drivers at the end of 1967 and 100 million registered vehicles.

Clifford To Be Guest Speaker At AP Meeting

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Miller, president of The Associated Press, announced Tuesday that Clark M. Clifford, newly appointed secretary of defense, will be the speaker at the annual luncheon of The Associated Press April 22.

The luncheon will follow the annual business meeting in New York City of Associated Press members.

Clifford, whose nomination by President Johnson was confirmed by the Senate last week, is expected to take over the defense post in March. He will succeed Robert S. McNamara, who will become head of the World Bank.

Clifford has been adviser to President Johnson, Harry Truman and John F. Kennedy.

Chamber Committees Plan Course of Action for '68

Various committees of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors laid out their plans of action for the year during a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Pickaway Arms.

The chamber's annual membership drive will get underway March 12, according to Ed Ebert. Ebert noted that a list of approximately 100 prospective members was being distributed along with recruit material.

Bill Hall, chairman of the Community Appearance Committee, announced plans for a tour of the city by his committeemen to determine which "eyesores" would be hopefully eliminated.

Hall noted that his committee planned to work closely with city government in their efforts. He also announced that Owens-Illinois is making litter boxes available again this year in addition to litter bags and stickers.

OWENS-Illinois also has a series of films on "Keep America Beautiful" that will be shown throughout Circleville and Pickaway County schools in cooperation with the boards of education.

Democrat Files for Clerk's Post

Franklin D. Crites has filed his petitions for the Democratic nomination as Pickaway County Clerk of Courts.

Crites was born in Circleville Twp. and graduated from Circleville High School.

He is a former examiner of relief expenditures serving under Joseph T. Ferguson, Auditor of State. Later he was appointed Deputy Clerk of Courts by A. L. (Dick) Wilder, and served until his enlistment in the Army Air Corps in April, 1942.

Since his discharge from the Air Force, after the Korean Conflict, in September, 1952, he has been engaged in contracting in the Pickaway County area and is currently the inspector on Circleville's new north storm sewer installation.

Crites is a 22-year member of the Hall-Adkins Post No. 134 American Legion where he has served on numerous committees, is an original member of the Flag Committee, and is currently finance officer.

As a member of the First Presbyterian Church he has served as president of the Couple's Club and on the Board of Deacons. Crites resides at 180 Crites Road with his wife, Deputy Sheriff Margaret V. Crites, daughter Susan, a senior at Circleville High School, and son Kevin, a freshman.

New Holland Man Aids in Planning State Meeting

Mr. Cris Cross of Stewart and Cross Hardware, New Holland, Pickaway County chairman for the Ohio Hardware Assn., is on the Exhibition and Planning Committee for The 1968 America Hardware-Housewares Show to be held at the Ohio State Fairgrounds, Columbus, Feb. 25-27.

This will be the largest trade show ever held in Columbus, with over 350 of the leading manufacturers and suppliers in the hardware and allied industries being represented with the newest merchandise displays.

A survey of shopping habits of rural area families is to be conducted, according to Chaney Vance, chairman of the Agri. Business Committee.

Vance said his committee would attempt to find out why rural area people bypass Circleville for shopping purposes.

He also said that plans were underway for a second farm tour since the initial effort in 1967 was a success.

By a vote of the directors, it was decided to increase the price of tickets for the annual membership meeting in January. The new price will be $3.25.

Mrs. E. R. Bennett, chamber manager, noted that dates had been established as Feb. 28, and March 6, for the Community Development Seminar. The all-day sessions will be centered about major problems in the community and what to do about them.

Historical Society Lists Committees

Committees to handle the activities of the Pickaway County Historical Society for the year were announced Tuesday by Rex E. Haecker, president.

A major goal of the society for the year will be the completion of the restoration work on the Clark-May home as a museum for Pickaway County.

The request by the officers and directors of the Second National Bank to the society of the old Second National Bank Building will create an enterprising challenge to all members to retain the heritage of the building and to use its facilities effectively, according to Haecker.

Following are the 1968 committees.

Program Committee: Dr. W. L. Sprouse, chairman; Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Joseph W. Adkins Jr., Mrs. Ned Griner, Mark Armstrong.

Membership Committee: Mrs. J. B. Work, chairman; Mrs. George Macklin, William Fischer, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. Pat Yates.

Finance Committee: M. E. Noggle, chairman; Harry Heffner, William Radcliff, Blenn D. Bales, Howard Newell Stevenson.

Acquisition Committee: Mrs. Renick, chairman; Lincoln Maden, Robert A. Smith, Dwight Steele, Paul Johnson.

Acquisition Committee: Mrs. Maxine Dowler, chairman; Mrs. Tom Renick, Mrs. John L. Beck, MacDonald Schuman, Norman McKnight.

Public Relations Committee: Mrs. Ed Bach Jr., chairman; Mrs. David Yates, Miss Nelle Oesterle, Miss Margaret Mattinson.

Library Committee: Miss Jessie Cummins, chairman; Mrs. Robert J. Shadley.

Museum Committee: Mrs. Dwight Steele, chairman; Miss Dhe Renick, Mrs. John H. Dunlap, David Craven, Mrs. Roger May, Donald P. Goeller.

Legal Committee: Emmitt Crist, chairman, Roger Bennington.

Publications Committee: Mrs. Ray W. Davis, chairman; Mrs. Barton Deming, Wallace Higgins, Mrs. David Yates, Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer, Ed. Irwin, Charles Will, Mrs. Lrentz, Don R. Forquer.

Fierce Fight

launched the ground attack about two hours later. The nine Russian tanks rumbled east along Highway Nine, leading the infantrymen through the camp's minefields and three lines of barbed wire.

The camp's garrison—300-400 South Vietnamese and Montagnard irregulars and their American advisers—took cover in their bunkers, and North Vietnamese sprayed the bunkers with flamethrowers to drive the defenders back from rifle and machine-gun posts.

U.S. headquarters said radio contact was lost with the Americans in the camp at 3:10 a.m. but was re-established at 4:20.

U. S. Marine artillery at Khe Sanh fired tons of shells almost on top of the camp after the Green Berets called for close in support. Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers raked the area with bombs, cannon and machineguns.

South Carolina
Riot Is Quelled

ORANBURG, S.C. (AP) — National Guardsmen were ready to quell any further rioting today after Negro students smashed windows and overturned cars Tuesday night because they were barred from an all-white privately-owned bowling alley.

Gov. Robert McNair issued a post-midnight statement saying the situation had been brought under control.

The disturbance involved at least 550 young Negroes, both male and female. Most are students at predominantly Negro South Carolina State College and Claflin College.

Saxbe Attacks
'Do-Nothings'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe criticized Tuesday night politicians "who retreat . . . and try to excuse their retreat by saying they are voting their conscience."

"In fact, they vote for the status quo—don't rock the boat—at a time when our nation cries out for national solution," Saxbe told Republicans gathered at the Lincoln-McKinley banquet here.

Saxbe, who is seeking his party's nomination for the U.S. Senate, cited President Abraham Lincoln as a leader who "re-stored to action, not consensus."

Ellen Lee Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cottrill, 2015 Chippewa Drive, has recently become an active member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority at Ohio State University.

Miss Jenkins is a junior in the school of home economics majoring in family and child development. She is a 1965 graduate of Circleville High School.

Misguided Missile Sinks Rescue Ship

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — The Bullpup missile was aimed at an old barge. Instead, it went off target and sank a Navy rescue ship loaded with 1,200 gallons of aviation gasoline, the Navy said.

All six men on the ship were blown into the water but escaped major injury. A helicopter plucked them from the water 15 minutes later and flew them to a base dispensary for treatment for exposure and minor wounds, a spokesman said.

The missile was fired from an A-4 Skyhawk Navy jet Tuesday morning during firing exercises two miles offshore from the naval air station at Point Mugu. It was supposed to hit a barge under radio command from the Skyhawk.

Navy officials said an investigation would be made to determine how the missile misfired. The name of the pilot was not disclosed.

Stock List Posts Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market posted a moderate gain early Wednesday afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains outnumbered losses by 2 to 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.54 at 683.79.

The rise was attributed mainly to technical reasons, said analysts. Losses have outnumbered gains in every session since Jan. 26 and the series seemed due to be broken.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 315.0 with industrials up 2.3, rails off .6 and utilities up .9.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange in fairly active trading.

Highway Toll During 1967 Hit 53,000

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 53,000 persons last year, matching the 1966 toll, but an increase in travel resulted in a lower death rate for distance covered.

In announcing this today, Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, said, "these 1967 traffic statistics support our conviction that the traffic loss of lives and dollars on the highways is an unnecessary expense that the nation can control."

The cost of the 1967 accidents was estimated at $11 billion.

Deaths in December totaled 5,210, up 3 per cent from the 5,040 killed in December 1966.

The 1967 rate was 5.5 fatalities per 100 million vehicle miles, a 4 per cent decrease from the 1966 rate of 5.7 deaths. The record low of 5.2 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles was set in 1961. In 1957 the rate was 6.

Mileage traveled in 1967 rose to 970 billion from 930.5 billion in 1966, an increase of 4 per cent.

The council estimated that traffic accidents caused 1.9 million disabling injuries last year in addition to the deaths.

Of the $11 billion economic loss, 3.5 billion came from damaged and destroyed property and the remainder from wage losses, medical expenses and overhead cost of insurance.

There were 103 million registered drivers at the end of 1967 and 100 million registered vehicles.

Chamber Committees Plan Course of Action for '68

Various committees of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors laid out their plans of action for the year during a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Pickaway Arms.

The chamber's annual membership drive will get underway March 12, according to Ed Ebert. Ebert noted that a list of approximately 100 prospective members was being distributed along with recruit material.

Bill Hall, chairman of the Community Appearance Committee, announced plans for a tour of the city by his committee to determine which "eyesores" would be hopefully eliminated.

Hall noted that his committee planned to work closely with city government in their efforts. He also announced that Owens-Illinois is making litter boxes available again this year in addition to litter bags and sticks.

OWENS-Illinois also has a series of films on "Keep America Beautiful" that will be shown throughout Circleville and Pickaway County schools in cooperation with the boards of education.

By a vote of the directors, it was decided to increase the price of tickets for the annual membership meeting in January. The new price will be $3.25.

Mrs. E. R. Bennett, chamber manager, noted that dates had been established as Feb. 28, and March 6, for the Community Development Seminar. The all-day sessions will be centered about major problems in the community and what to do about them.

Another guest at the meeting was Don Kellough of Piping Specialties Inc., 206 S. Court St.

MAJOR Richard L. Gerhardt was on hand for the session as a guest. He thanked the chamber for helping sponsor his trip to New York late last year and gave a brief resume of contacts and meetings there.

Another guest at the meeting was Don Kellough of Piping Specialties Inc., 206 S. Court St.

Outposts in Korea Have Own Little War

By BOB POOS
Associated Press Writer

OUTPOST 752, Korea (AP)—A never ending war goes on here between the Republic of Korea and Communist North Korea, a war mostly of broadcasts but sometimes of bullets.

Outpost 752 and its strong point to the right, Outpost 751, are the closest approach to the North Korean lines.

Most of the 151-mile Korean front is divided by a swath of more than two miles, half of it owned by the American and Korean United Forces and half by the Communists.

But here on the Kimpo Peninsula, extreme western sector of the front, the dividing line is the Han River and the Han-Imjin river estuary. The lines are only 4,000 feet or so apart.

Holding this sector of 32 miles, about one-fifth of the entire front, is the 5th Republic of Korea Marine Brigade, commanded by Brig. Gen. Lee Pyung-moon.

Outpost 751 on top of a wind-swept peak that commands the surrounding terrain contains a powerful loudspeaker system which sends periodic propaganda broadcasts toward the Communist troops just a gunshot away.

Across the river and easily discernible through binoculars is a similar system that throws Communist propaganda at the South.

As the ROK marines endlessly scan the other side through telescopes and periscopes, so do the Communist troops peer at this side. Communist broadcasts start about five minutes after visitors to the southern outposts arrive.

"They know we're here and they're putting on their usual show," said Maj. Frank Zimolzak of the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., area, second in command of the 15-man American Marine advisory team to the ROK marine brigade.

Sometimes this continual war of words erupts into gunfire. Since last March the Communists have stepped up attempts to penetrate the peninsula. Several have been either killed or captured by the Korean marines.

The brigade, possibly 5,000 combat troops, has been on a full combat alert since the abortive attempt on President Chung Hee Park's life Jan. 21 and the North Korean capture of the USS Pueblo two days later.

But the ROK marines are almost always on full alert status as they guard what is known as the "back door to Seoul." When the North Koreans invaded the South in June 1950 their main stab came down the classic invasion route, just to the right of the Kimpo Peninsula. This is an 18-mile-wide area now held by the U. S. 2nd Infantry Division.

But the thrust that caused the total collapse of South Korean forces then and resulted in the Communist capture of Seoul came down this peninsula.

The ROK marines are determined that this shall not happen again even though they are spread thin and are armed with weapons of World War II and Korean War vintage: American M1 rifles, carbines, Browning 30 caliber machine guns and Browning automatic rifles.

Along the front line trenches, automatic 40mm cannon and batteries of heavy machine guns in quadruple mounts, also old but very practical weapons, stare down at the Han River.

When the Han, and the Imjin at its confluence with the Han, are not frozen or filled with ice floes, as they are now, the marines man "water ambush" positions, low silhouette motorboats with four or five riflemen who seek to intercept raiders coming across in rubber boats or by individual flotation devices something like waterwings.

Few get through. Most of those who do are caught or killed. Zimolzak remembers one who got across and tried to get back. He was thwarted by one of the powerful whirpools in the Han that kept pitching him back up on the southern bank. After three tries, he was so exhausted that he gave up without a struggle.

The ROK marines are healthy, tough and know how to take care of and handle their guns. Every man in the brigade, Zimolzak says, is either a veteran of the fighting in Vietnam or has volunteered to go.

All youth are reminded that the organization is sponsoring the card party Saturday night and are urged to help with the event.

The youth chairman, Paul Dunkie, reported on the demonstration team and will assign parts at the next meeting at which rehearsals will be announced. The date and place of the regular council meeting will be made public at a later time.

Solar System Planets Are Old

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The solar system's planets are about 4.6 billion years old, says a geologist at the California Institute of Technology.

"This was when the planets were apparently formed and other bodies broke up," he said.

Produce Prices To Rise in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's vegetable prices are going to be forced up by increased production costs, and the state's apple production crop is gloomy, according to the experts.

These reports came today from E. C. Wittmeyer of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Vegetable and Potato Growers Association, and Norman M. Whitherspoon of New Philadelphia, manager of the Ohio Apple Institute.

Wittmeyer reported that he could not estimate the cost of anticipated price increases to the housewife, "but they've got to go up," he said. He made the statement before the opening of the association's annual convention here Monday.

While the vegetable business "gets worse every year," reported William Fulton of Troy, vice president of the association's vegetable section.

Growers can get pickers for melons or they can get workers for packing sheds, "but it comes to hard picking you just can't get good help," he said.

Many farmers are turning to mechanized harvesters in order to lower costs and beat the labor shortage, Fulton said.

Whitherspoon said there is a pall over the apple growing business in Ohio, a gloom his organization is trying to dissipate with pep talks to growers.

He said in 1966 the anticipated crop was cut by half, due to a hard freeze. Then last year unusually cold weather during the pollination season cut about 40 per cent out of the crop. Normally Ohio produces about 6.3 million bushels of apples a year. The grower realizes an income from the crop of about $4 a bushel.

"We want to stimulate enthusiasm for Ohio apples among the growers and the buying public," Whitherspoon said. "That's about all we can do, we can't fight the weather."

Highway Bids Are Opened

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways opened bids Tuesday on the first section of the Appalachian Development Highway System's main east-west corridor. It was among the $10.6 million worth of projects on which bids were opened.

The $2.2 million Appalachian section will be a 4½ mile extension of Ohio 346 into Jackson County from just east of Ohio 327 south of Wellston to 0.3 miles north of County Road 39 at Mulga. It is scheduled for completion Oct. 31, 1969.

The apparent low bid for the project at $2,242,533 was entered by Engle Construction Co. of McArthur. The state estimate was $3,012,000.

or by individual flotation devices something like water wings.

Few get through. Most of those who do are caught or killed. Zimolzak remembers one who got across and tried to get back. He was thwarted by one of the powerful whirpools in the Han that kept pitching him back up on the southern bank. After three tries, he was so exhausted that he gave up without a struggle.

The ROK marines are healthy, tough and know how to take care of and handle their guns. Every man in the brigade, Zimolzak says, is either a veteran of the fighting in Vietnam or has volunteered to go.

PICKAWAY YOUTH GRANGE
Eleven members were present for the monthly meeting of the Pickaway Grange Youth meeting held Monday at the home of Patricia Schlech.

Five Granges were represented at this meeting conducted by the president Phil Judy.

Reports were given by the officers following the devotion by the Chaplain, Fern Lutz, who used as her theme: Consider the Lilies.

Committees were appointed for the Spring Banquet, and talent Contest, which will report at the March meeting.

All youth are reminded that the organization is sponsoring the card party Saturday night and are urged to help with the event.

The youth chairman, Paul Dunkie, reported on the demonstration team at the next meeting at which rehearsals will be announced. The date and place of the regular council meeting will be made public at a later time.

Solar System Planets Are Old

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The solar system's planets are about 4.6 billion years old, says a geologist at the California Institute of Technology.

G.J. Wasserburg describes as a "sort of magical period in the early history of the solar system the period between 4.3 billion and 4.7 billion years ago."

"This was when the planets were apparently formed and other bodies broke up," he said.

Produce Prices To Rise in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's vegetable prices are going to be forced up by increased production costs, and the state's apple production crop is gloomy, according to the experts.

These reports came today from E. C. Wittmeyer of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Vegetable and Potato Growers Association, and Norman M. Witherspoon of New Philadelphia, manager of the Ohio Apple Institute.

Wittmeyer reported that he could not estimate the cost of anticipated price increases to the housewife, "but they've got to go up," he said. He made the statement before the opening of the association's annual convention here Monday.

While the vegetable business "gets worse every year," reported William Fulton of Troy, vice president of the association's vegetable section.

Growers can get pickers for melons or they can get workers for packing sheds, "but it comes to hard picking you just can't get good help," he said.

Many farmers are turning to mechanized harvesters in order to lower costs and beat the labor shortage, Fulton said.

Witherspoon said there is a pall over the apple growing business in Ohio, a gloom his organization is trying to dissipate with pep talks to growers.

He said in 1966 the anticipated crop was cut by half, due to a hard freeze. Then last year unusually cold weather during the pollination season cut about 40 per cent out of the crop. Normally Ohio produces about 6.3 million bushels of apples a year. The grower realizes an income from the crop of about $4 a bushel.

"We want to stimulate enthusiasm for Ohio apples among the growers and the buying public," Witherspoon said. "That's about all we can do, we can't fight the weather."

Highway Bids Are Opened

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highways opened bids Tuesday on the first section of the Appalachian Development Highway System's main east-west corridor. It was among the $10.6 million worth of projects on which bids were opened.

The $2.2 million Appalachian section will be a 4½ mile extension of Ohio 346 into Jackson County from just east of Ohio 327 south of Wellston to 0.3 miles north of County Road 39 at Mulga. It is scheduled for completion Oct. 31, 1969.

The apparent low bid for the project at $2,242,538 was entered by Engle Construction Co. of McArthur. The state estimate was $3,012,000.

Ironie, Not Funny

It is ironic when there is so much hunger in the world, Congress should be investigating shoddy practices connected with the American desire to lose weight.

It is ironic, but it isn't funny. It's a little frightening to read some of the testimony given by witnesses before a Senate subcommittee.

The great desire to lose weight has led to the creation of an estimated 1,000 obesity clinics across the nation, which specialize in helping patients lose weight. Although these clinics are commonly operated by either medical doctors or osteopaths, the Senate subcommittee is hearing that some of them indiscriminately prescribe for their patients drugs which are ineffective at best and often dangerous.

The director of research at Washington Hospital Center, Dr. Frederick Wolff, described some of the more common prescriptions:

Thyroid hormone or related synthetics — Not safe for weight control. An excess of thyroid can have toxic effects with various consequences.

Digitalis — Absolutely worthless and irrational to use it for weight control. Potential toxic effects serious and a threat to life.

Amphetamine and related drugs — Effect of depressing appetite diminishes after six to eight weeks, and patients can become habituated or addicted.

Barbiturates — the same ill effects as amphetamines.

Prednisone — Completely irrational and positively dangerous for treating obesity.

It is no secret that many physicians outside clinics have prescribed such drugs, because overweight patients begged for a crutch to help them diet.

Responsible physicians who prescribe drugs for obese patients keep a close watch on them. They don't just turn them loose to have the prescription filled without question or only on the basis of a telephone call.

Most of all, obese people should realize the dangers in their common practice in passing around to friends samples of medication which they think has "worked wonders" for themselves.

It's disgraceful that it takes a congressional inquiry to threaten to put a stop to such useless and dangerous practices as indiscriminate prescribing of drugs for the overweight. A little common sense on the part of patients and physicians would have kept the problem from developing.

No Test In New Hampshire

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It's an article of faith among the liberal pundits that Richard Nixon "can't win." Since, with the liberals, any stigma will do to beat either dogma or dog, we won't argue against their adaptation of the canard that was so devastatingly used against Bob Taft. This is the way of politics, and the political animal seldom changes.

What is curious, however, is that the liberal pundits have unanimously conceded that Nixon can win the New Hampshire primary. If he does indeed win it, he will be out of the Bob Taft category. For Taft, it will be remembered, lost to like Eisenhower up there in the granite hills.

The really piquant thing about it is that the liberals want Nixon to win in New Hampshire. They want to get George Romney out of the way so that they can turn to their real candidate, who is Nelson Rockefeller. So they are saying that "Nixon can win" as a prelude to saying that "Nixon can't win." The motives are the important matter, not the arithmetic.

However, the liberals want most of all the sort of Nixon victory in New Hampshire that can be easily explained away. A few weeks ago they were circulating private polls that indicated a five to one and even a six to one margin for Nixon. But this was too scary a line to accept for very long. Anyone who could get more than eighty per cent of the Republican vote in a New Hampshire primary would be too formidable a character to reject in a convention. So, at the end of January, reporters with a liberal bias were guessing that Nixon might actually achieve a fifty-five per cent victory over Romney. The reporters' consensus was printed in one of the news weeklies along with the somewhat editorialized statement that this "would very nearly deprive Richard Nixon of the convincing New Hampshire victory he says he needs."

If Nixon actually does win by a 5-45 vote in a straight race, it would be convincing enough by any ordinary standards. For anything over fifty-five per cent is considered a landslide in normal politics. When Ike Eisenhower got 46,497 votes in New Hampshire in 1952 as against Bob Taft's 35,820, with a scattering going to Stassen, MacArthur and a few others, it was trumpeted as a stunning overturn. Yet Eisenhower won in New Hampshire with 47 per cent of the total Republican vote. In 1964, the New Hampshire Republican "write-in" victor, Henry Cabot Lodge, got only 36 per cent of the total of 90,000 Republican votes.

So if Nixon wins by any sort of majority over Romney in a primary that will assuredly see some Rockefeller write-ins, it will be significant enough.

On any interpretation, the news weekly comment that Nixon needs more than fifty-five per cent of the New Hampshire vote to kill the "can't win" stigma offers dubious ground for cheer in the camp of those who hope to put Nelson Rockefeller over in some later primary without Nelson Rockefeller's permission. On the one hand, if Nixon does considerably better than 55-45 against Romney, it establishes him as a real race horse whom Rockefeller would have difficulty heading. But if he gets less than 55 per cent, with Romney creeping toward the 50 per cent mark, it means that Romney will live to fight again. The better Romney does, the worse for those who want to see him get out of Rockefeller's way in time for the Oregon primary.

The way the liberals and conservatives in the Republican camp are polarizing on the eve of the Nixon-Romney battle in New Hampshire is in itself a matter for semanticists of an ironical turn of mind to study. For Romney, though he failed to support Goldwater in 1964, is no standard liberal. His economics are taken straight out of the career of the senior Henry Ford, which means that he believes more strongly than most in the free enterprise system. His political theory calls for more power to individuals and to the local political units and less power to the federal government. If he hadn't said those confusing things about foreign policy, he could be campaigning as a conservative. As for Dick Nixon, he is a centrist about most things. Actually, liberal Republicanism will get no test in New Hampshire. Unless, of course, there are write-ins of a sort that nobody now predicts.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How can one be sure that chest pain is not due to angina or a heart condition?

There are a great many causes for pain in the chest, some serious and many rather unimportant. A slight injury which may have gone unnoticed may cause a bruise of the muscles between the ribs.

The result is that a deep breath may cause pain. Pleurisy and bronchitis may do the same thing.

If the pain happens to be over the left side of the chest it produces a good deal of anxiety about the possibility that it may be related to the heart. Because the pain is near the heart it does not necessarily mean it is caused by a heart condition.

Angina actually means a choking sensation. A sense of suffocation and difficulty in breathing results from an insufficient flow of blood to the heart muscle itself. This is called angina pectoris. The pain usually shoots from the heart region to the shoulder and down the arm.

Even this description of pain may be the result of simple conditions other than the fearsome heart disorder that many people suspect. It is not for any individual to speculate or guess as to whether or not the pain is due to the heart, ribs, muscles or even a neuragic pain starting in the neck.

There is only one way to find out and that is by a complete physical examination including electrocardiograms and functional studies of the heart.

It is amazing to find that there are hundreds of people who live in unnecessary terror about a heart condition that really does not exist. All of us in the practice of medicine have actually known patients who rearranged their entire lives based on a supposition of a disease rather than a fact.

Any pain in the chest deserves study. With it often comes the comforting assurance that the heart is normal.

Is there really an illness called butterfly disease? Can it be the result of working with butterflies?

The term butterfly is a descriptive one, named because of its appearance over the bridge of the nose and the side of the face. The skin is red and, to some people, seems to resemble the shape of the head of a wolf.

This is how the technical name Lupus Erythematosus was first used to describe a very serious skin condition that has no relation to the handling of butterflies.

The cause of this condition is still unknown. There have been many speculations that Lupus is caused by intense exposure to sunlight, to drugs, allergy and tuberculosis.

The disease, for some unexplained reason, happens more frequently in women past the age of 30. With it there may be involvement of the blood vessels, nervous system, heart and the kidneys.

Before the days of cortisone and ACTH, the results of treatment were not encouraging. Today with earlier recognition and more intensive treatment, the severe complications can sometimes be avoided.

The World Today

By STERLING F. GREEN (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — What's the government going to do about inflation? Not very much, it appears.

People who looked for a novel or dramatic anti-inflation plan in President Johnson's Economic message to Congress last week were disappointed. He came up with a plan for a committee—and with a renewed plea for the 10 per cent surtax which the House Ways and Means Committee has shelved three times.

Some expected Johnson to propose a revision and revitalization of wage-price guideposts. Others looked for a plan to set up an advisory board to give guidance on pending major wage and price decisions.

Nothing so definite was suggested, although the new five-member Cabinet Committee on Price Stability apparently will try to find a substitute for the virtually defunct guideposts.

Meantime, said Johnson, unions and industry should refrain voluntarily from "excessive wage settlements or unnecessary price hikes."

But how can a union negotiator be expected to settle for anything less than he can wrest from an employer, when he knows 1968's inflation will eat away three, four, or possibly five per cent of his unionists' paychecks?

And why should a businessman—unless he has fat profits in sight—be expected to reprint last year's prices in his 1968 catalog when he gave a 5.5 per cent wage increase in 1967 and faces another one, perhaps just as big, in 1968?

The fact is, as Johnson's message acknowledged, that a classic wage-price spiral has been set awheel. And that it cannot be halted in 1968, regardless of higher taxes or anyone's private sacrifices.

It could be slowed by prompt enactment of the surtax, the President told Congress. And if there is also labor-management restraint, reasonable stability may return by 1969 or 1970.

But with business activity heating up "and with labor unions building the expectation of further price rises into their wage demands, there is danger the spiral will accelerate," Johnson said. "The longer it runs the harder it is to stop."

Some congressional critics complain he is trying to stop the runaway with a rubber sword. The Cabinet committee is under orders not to get into any "specific current wage and price matters," but to foster restraint and cooperation among industry, labor and the government, and to undertake these two further assignments:

—To seek out causes of inflation in "problem industries," and then to propose specific remedies — private, governmental or both.

—To confer with representatives of business, labor and the public "to attempt to reach some consensus on appropriate general standards to guide private price and wage decisions."

But the task of finding and eliminating inflationary hot spots, industry-by-industry, is a long-term undertaking. Some officials say it may help prevent the next inflation but won't help much in cooling this one.

And the quest for a "consensus" on workable and acceptable noninflationary guideposts has been under way—by economists, high officials, foundations, industrial relations experts and the President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy—for two years or more. The goal hasn't been sighted.

The American consumer may as well buckle down to the hard fact: There's nothing in sight to prevent inflation from eroding his buying power throughout 1968, probably through 1969, and possibly longer.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Though seldom very charitable in their comments on government fiscal planning, some businessmen now are unusually upset by what they feel are unrealistic goals and poor planning by Washington.

That at least is an evaluation of random conversations, publications and statements by or with members of the business and financial community here, and with others who were attending business conventions and conferences.

The coming year's budget, they feel, is based in shifting sands. It is predicated on the assumption that military and defense costs will level off, that the 10 per cent surtax will be approved and that corporate profits will rise.

At least two of these factors, taxes and defense spending, have disrupted the economy in very recent years. Defense expenditures were badly underestimated in 1966, and in retrospect, many economists now say certain taxes should have been raised in 1966.

Both of these elements were antecedent to the inflation that is now eroding a seven-year economic expansion. An unexpected $10-billion rise in defense spending set the fires of inflation. But some business economists feel that the resulting damage could have been lessened by raising taxes. No tax proposal was made.

Now, in a somewhat different context, the economy faces the same question marks of military spending and taxes, and in the opinion of informed economists and businessmen, the nation is threatened all over again.

Among smart business managers today, advance planning toward specific goals is considered essential.

This is not to say that International Business Machines, Ford Motor or General Dynamics cannot make multimillion dollar errors. They have, but usually they manage to avoid the same mistake in consecutive years.

But what is considered an even more disturbing revelation of ambling is that the administration is just now getting ready to study the formation of a new wage-price machinery, presumably to replace the guideposts.

Businessmen sometimes have criticized guideposts as unfair and an intrusion. But, with price-wage stability so obviously of prime importance to the administration, businessmen feel it is late to begin tackling the problem.

These guides have been dead since 1966, when wage and price increases, including some sanctioned by the government itself, battered them. But, perhaps reluctantly, even business does recognize they had some stabilizing effect.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Old dancers never die, they just sweat away," groaned Fred Astaire as he swirled a mug of stout.

The drink was to help replenish the five pounds he had dropped in putting on "The Fred Astaire Show," which appears tonight on NBC. If Nixon actually does win by a 5-45 vote in a straight race, it would be convincing enough by any ordinary standards. For anything over fifty-five per cent is considered a landslide in normal politics. When Ike Eisenhower got 46,497 votes in New Hampshire in 1952 as against Bob Taft's 35,820, with a scattering going to Stassen, MacArthur and a few others, it was trumpeted as a stunning overturn. Yet Eisenhower won in New Hampshire with 47 per cent of the total Republican vote. In 1964, the New Hampshire Republican "write-in" victor, Henry Cabot Lodge, got only 36 per cent of the total of 90,000 Republican votes.

So if Nixon wins by any sort of majority over Romney in a primary that will assuredly see some Rockefeller write-ins, it will be significant enough.

On any interpretation, the news weekly comment that Nixon needs more than fifty-five per cent of the New Hampshire vote to kill the "can't win" stigma offers dubious ground for cheer in the camp of those who hope to put Nelson Rockefeller over in some later primary without Nelson Rockefeller's permission. On the one hand, if Nixon does considerably better than 55-45 against Romney, it establishes him as a real race horse whom Rockefeller would have difficulty heading. But if he gets less than 55 per cent, with Romney creeping toward the 50 per cent mark, it means that Romney will live to fight again. The better Romney does, the worse for those who want to see him get out of Rockefeller's way in time for the Oregon primary.

The way the liberals and conservatives in the Republican camp are polarizing on the eve of the Nixon-Romney battle in New Hampshire is in itself a matter for semanticists of an ironical turn of mind to study. For Romney, though he failed to support Goldwater in 1964, is no standard liberal. His economics are taken straight out of the career of the senior Henry Ford, which means that he believes more strongly than most in the free enterprise system. His political theory calls for more power to individuals and to the local political units and less power to the federal government. If he hadn't said those confusing things about foreign policy, he could be campaigning as a conservative. As for Dick Nixon, he is a centrist about most things. Actually, liberal Republicanism will get no test in New Hampshire. Unless, of course, there are write-ins of a sort that nobody now predicts.

Fred Astaire

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Old dancers never die, they just sweat away," groaned Fred Astaire as he swirled a mug of stout.

The drink was to help replenish the five pounds he had dropped in putting on "The Fred Astaire Show," which appears tonight on NBC. He had finished the final number—a rock version of his old "top hat" dance—the night before, and he was understandably exhausted. Yet his springy step and his jaunty manner remained unchanged.

"Well, I like to dance," he admitted, "but it's such damned hard work. At least it is the way I do it. I can't do things the easy way. I figure if I'm going to do something, it's got to be the best I know how. Otherwise there's no point in doing it."

"Oh, I know how they generally do dance numbers in television. They say, 'Let's have a soft-shoe number here,' then they get six girls and they throw a routine together. And that's the way it looks—thrown together."

"You may not like my show, but at least you can't say that it was put on haphazardly. Everything was designed to flow together. There was no flowery introductions, no idle chitchat; I hate that sort of thing and I'm terrible at it. The numbers will follow along, one after the other."

The Astaire approach to television is unique. He declines to guest on anyone else's show, preferring to limit himself to hand-crafted specials. There have been only four in 10 years.

"I wish I could be like Dean Martin; he's a genius at doing a show with speed, yet maintaining his particular charm," said Astaire. "As for myself, I started laying out the dances for about four weeks. Then I worked with the dancers for another eight weeks of rehearsals and taping. Here—look at this."

He displayed a calendar of his last month of work. It was as detailed as a military operation, with each day of seven-day weeks designated for numbers in various stages of development. He was so wrapped up in his work that he didn't get out to Santa Anita racetrack to watch his new filly Sharp Curve win a race.

The ageless Astaire's 66th year has been one of his most strenuous. Through the long, hot San Fernando Valley summer he played "Finian's Rainbow" on the Warner Bros. backlot. His winter has been spent at NBC's color studios, also in Burbank.

TOM SMOTHERS—who, with his brother Dick, is starring in one of the gutsiest, most original, and unbosomed TV comedy shows left on the air—and its popularity grows and grows—can tell you, if you're interested, how to cure the irritating habit of nail-biting. "Go to a hypnotist," advised Tom. "I did—and it worked. Actually, I went to him to stop smoking. He threw in the fingernails for the same price."

At a nearby golf course, women members began monopolizing the practice tees as well as the regular course, and a couple of angry husbands began deliberately aiming drives and approaches that came as close as possible to the ubiquitous females without actually nicking them. The vendetta got to a point that the greens committee reluctantly was forced to post this warning: "Drive carefully. The next wife you shave may be your own!"

There's an animal-loving youngster in the Bronx who was dying to have a puppy for a birthday present. His mother, however, doesn't think that dogs belong in a city apartment, and gave her son a parakeet instead. So this parakeet is probably the only one in town named "Rover."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How can one be sure that chest pain is not due to angina or a heart condition?

There are a great many causes for pain in the chest, some serious and many rather unimportant. A slight injury which may have gone unnoticed may cause a bruise of the muscles between the ribs.

The result is that a deep breath may cause pain. Pleurisy and bronchitis may do the same thing.

If the pain happens to be over the left side of the chest it produces a good deal of anxiety about the possibility that it may be related to the heart. Because the pain is near the heart it does not necessarily mean it is caused by a heart condition.

Angina actually means a choking sensation. A sense of suffocation and difficulty in breathing results from an insufficient flow of blood to the heart muscle itself. This is called angina pectoris. The pain usually shoots from the heart region to the shoulder and down the arm.

Even this description of pain may be the result of simple conditions other than the fearsome heart disorder that many people suspect. It is not for any individual to speculate or guess as to whether or not the pain is due to the heart, ribs, muscles or even a neuroma pain starting in the neck.

There is only one way to find out and that is by a complete physical examination including electrocardiograms and functional studies of the heart.

It is amazing to find that there are hundreds of people who live in unnecessary terror about a heart condition that really does not exist. All of us in the practice of medicine have actually known patients who rearranged their entire lives based on a supposition of a disease rather than a fact.

Any pain in the chest deserves study. With it often comes the comforting assurance that the heart is normal.

Is there really an illness called butterfly disease? Can it be the result of working with butterflies?

The term butterfly is a descriptive one, named because of its appearance over the bridge of the nose and the side of the face. The skin is red and, to some people, seems to resemble the shape of the head of a wolf. This is how the technical name Lupus Erythematosus was first used to describe a very serious skin condition that has no relation to the handling of butterflies.

The World Today

By STERLING F. GREEN (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — What's the government going to do about inflation? Not very much, it appears.

People who looked for a novel or dramatic anti-inflation plan in President Johnson's Economic message to Congress last week were disappointed. He came up with a plan for a committee—and with a renewed plea for the 10 per cent surtax which the House Ways and Means Committee has shelved three times.

Some expected Johnson to propose a revision and revitalization of wage-price guideposts. Others looked for a plan to set up an advisory board to give guidance on pending major wage and price decisions.

Nothing so definite was suggested, although the new five-member Cabinet Committee on Price Stability apparently will try to find a substitute for the virtually defunct guideposts.

Meantime, said Johnson, unions and industry should refrain voluntarily from "excessive wage settlements or unnecessary price hikes."

But how can a union negotiator be expected to settle for anything less than he can wrest from an employer, when he knows 1968's inflation will eat away three, four, or possibly five per cent of his unionists' paychecks?

And why should a businessman—unless he has fat profits in sight—be expected to reprint last year's prices in his 1968 catalog when he gave a 5.5 per cent wage increase in 1967 and faces another one, perhaps just as big, in 1968?

The fact is, as Johnson's message acknowledged, that a classic wage-price spiral has been set awhirl. And that it cannot be halted in 1968, regardless of higher taxes or anyone's private sacrifices.

It could be slowed by prompt enactment of the surtax, the President told Congress. And if there is also labor-management restraint, reasonable stability may return by 1969 or 1970.

But with business activity heating up "and with labor unions building the expectation of further price rises into their wage demands, there is danger the spiral will accelerate," Johnson said. "The longer it runs the harder it is to stop."

Some congressional critics complain he is trying to stop the runaway with a rubber sword. The Cabinet committee is under orders not to get into any "specific current wage and price matters," but to foster restraint and cooperation among industry, labor and the government, and to undertake these two further assignments:

—To seek out causes of inflation in "problem industries," and then to propose specific remedies — private, governmental or both.

—To confer with representatives of business, labor and the public "to attempt to reach some consensus on appropriate general standards to guide private price and wage decisions."

But the task of finding and eliminating inflationary hot spots, industry-by-industry, is a long-term undertaking. Some officials say it may help prevent the next inflation but won't help much in cooling this one.

And the quest for a "consensus" on workable and acceptable noninflationary guideposts has been under way—by economists, high officials, foundations, industrial relations experts and the President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy—for two years or more. The goal hasn't been sighted.

The American consumer may as well buckle down to the hard fact: There's nothing in sight to prevent inflation from eroding his buying power throughout 1968, probably through 1969, and possibly longer.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Though seldom very charitable in their comments on government fiscal planning, some businessmen now are unusually upset by what they feel are unrealistic goals and poor planning by Washington.

That at least is an evaluation of random conversations, publications and statements by or with members of the business and financial community here, and with others who were attending business conventions and conferences.

The coming year's budget, they feel, is based in shifting sands. It is predicated on the assumption that military and defense costs will level off, that the 10 per cent surtax will be approved and that corporate profits will rise.

At least two of these factors, taxes and defense spending, have disrupted the economy in very recent years. Defense expenditures were badly underestimated in 1965, and in retrospect, many economists now are certain taxes should have been raised in 1966.

Both of these elements were antecedent to the inflation that is now eroding a seven-year economic expansion. An unexpected $10-billion rise in defense spending set the fires of inflation. But some business economists feel that the resulting damage could have been lessened by raising taxes. No tax proposal was made.

Now, in a somewhat different context, the economy faces the same question marks of military spending and taxes, and in the opinion of informed economists, the purpose of the organization was "to collect, investigate and disseminate all facts in connection with civic enterprises for the better protection of the public welfare of the community." Harvey S. Heffner was elected as president of the group.

A Circleville Citizens League was organized in this city. War Only a Small Bunker For Marine Gun Squad

By GEORGE McAFTHUR

Associated Press Writer
KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — The war, for Lance Cpl. Curry, Bennett and Farrah, is a log bunker eight feet square, plus one lovingly cared for machine gun.

They don't much care for the location — hard by the barbed wire on the western edge of the Marine base at Khe Sanh. The surrounding jungle is controlled by North Vietnamese.

Life in the dusty, threatened fortress is hard on all. Curry, Bennett and Farrah are at the bottom of the heap. They get maybe six hours sleep a night, two C ration meals a day.

As best they can recall, they haven't had a shower in two months. Downwind, they smell a bit strong to visitors.

"What do you mean?" the team gunner, Johnny Bennett from West Palm Beach, Fla., asked with a grin. "We cleaned up yesterday. We shaved. Besides, we get used to each other."

Since last October the team has been together — Bennett, blond, smiling Larry Curry, from Concord, Calif., and husky, silent Michael Farrah, the team leader from Lakewood, Calif. Curry is 19, the others 20.

They operate a nasty black

M60 machine gun; Farrah the leader, Bennett on trigger and Curry the "ammo humper."

Barely a year ago they were fresh out of high school. Bennett was a dropout — he hopes to get a diploma before he leaves the Marines. Now, they are the first line of defense, at least for about 30 yards, for 5,000 Marines.

By day they haul up ammo, dig a little deeper, snake out to repair cots in the barbed wire, or read any tattered magazine that comes their way. They complain mostly about the big rats and wild pigs that bother them at night, setting off trip flares that make them jump and have to be replaced the next day.

By night they watch and sleep in the log bunker that has been their home for two months — eight feet on each side and four feet deep with enough sandbags on top to take a direct mortar hit but not much against a direct rocket or artillery shell.

Train Accidents on Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of U.S. train accidents is increasing sharply, with about 1,800 persons killed annually in railcrossing mishaps alone.

After years of decline the number of rail accidents began shooting upward in 1961. The steepest jump—14 per cent—occurred in 1966 when 6,793 accidents were recorded.

Also in 1966, the last year for which complete figures are available, 1,780 persons died in railcrossing accidents.

Government officials say the reason for the accident increase — apart from those at highway crossings — is that financially troubled railroads put less money into maintenance.

There are many complex reasons for grade-crossing accidents, the officials said.

In a 1966 Sacramento, Calif., wreck, the National Transportation Safety Board concluded that Herbert R. Hill had been lured into the crash by a "Bobby trap crossing."

Hill, his wife and five of their children were killed when a freight train hit their station wagon.

The board said the warning lights often were set off by routine switching operations when no trains went through the crossing, and Hill and others living in the area had become used to such false alarms.

H. R. Longhurst, acting director of the Federal Bureau of Railroad Safety, says another reason for the increase in crossing accidents may be that there are many more cars on the highway, producing more impatient drivers trying to beat the train.

"Even when gates are provided, some drivers will go around them because they don't want to spend a couple of minutes waiting," Longhurst said.

He added that many people ignore warning signs until they are on the track.

"Then they look left and right, but it doesn't do much good at that point," he said.

Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd ordered last August a safety program, including a request that states select a total of 200 crossings in the country for testing the "most suitable known or proposed system of protection."

The department is studying proposals for greater federal regulatory authority, now limited to signal devices and automatic control systems for trains and to such safety appliances as brakes.

A report prepared by the department says a board segment of opinion holds that state highway departments "are not voluntarily using enough of their federal-aid highway funds for grade-crossing improvements."

Of $360 million in federal funds available in 1965, the states used $166 million.

But officials point out that much of the amount was used for interstate projects, which often add rather than replace crossings. The government pays 90 per cent of all interstate costs, including crossings, but only 50 per cent for projects on other systems.

Federal Railroad Administrator A. Scheffer Lang, said another part of the problem is that most railway crossings are on roads not eligible for federal-aid funds. He said statistics indicate it is these crossings at which most of the accidents occur.

Lang said many warning systems at crossings were built for automobile speeds of the 1930s, with the result that many cars are slamming into trains or lowered safety gates.

Northern School Segregation Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is taking its first cautious steps into the potentially explosive area of racial imbalance in Northern schools.

Stephen J. Pollak, newly appointed assistant attorney general in charge of civil rights activities, said his office is examining a handful of complaints alleging discriminatory treatment of Negroes in Northern schools. At least some of the complaints are from California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Oklahoma, said Pollak.

Escobedo 'Guilty' In Drug Case

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal jury has returned a guilty verdict in the narcotics trial of Danny Escobedo, whose name is linked with a landmark Supreme Court decision.

Escobedo was convicted by the U.S. District Court jury Tuesday on four counts each of possessing and selling heroin. A second defendant, Daniel Aguirre, 34, was convicted on three counts of each charge.

Escobedo and Aguirre were ordered held without bond by Judge Alexander Napoli, who set Feb. 20 for arguments for a new trial and sentencing.

Wide Use of Chromium Eases Kitchen Chores

By ELEANOR ROSS
New kitchens may be veering from stark modern styling to the charm of Pennsylvania Dutch or Early American, or going fancy with floor carpeting and colorfully decorated appliances. However, their maintenance is still "stark modern" in the very nicest and best sense.

Necessary 'Ingredients'
A sponge, water and suds are usually all that is needed to achieve the spotless cleanliness so vital to every kitchen.

One reason that the shine can be obtained without drudgery is the abundance of chromium on the appliances and trim installed in most kitchens. Since Chromium doesn't tarnish, it just needs to be sponged regularly with suds and rinses and then dried with a soft, clean cloth. If the surface ever does become dull or greasy-spattered, just brighten it with silver polish.

There are just two taboos relating to chromium: one is not to use coarse abrasives, and the other is to prevent splashes of salty foods.

Still other easy-care components of today's kitchens are the walls and the woodwork. These days, many paints and wallpapers are not only washable but are actually scrubbable with suds and water. So it is easy enough to wash kitchen walls. We do it often. At first the job isn't so appealing but in time it simplifies itself and is successful. Begin from the bottom and work up—completing the sudsing and rinsing of one area before moving on up.

Next, let's get to that kitchen ventilator. Although cleaning methods vary with different models, most of them are washable. It is wise to set up a regular schedule to remove both the grill and the air filters; then suds, rinse and dry them according to manufacturer's directions.

Lubrication Schedule

If oiling is necessary, do it about every six weeks—using one or two drops of oil as recommended by the manufacturer. Remember that a ventilator may not catch your discerning eye as often as your range does—so it's good not to adopt the out-of-sight, out-of-mind attitude about it. Steam, cooking vapors and dust have a way of depositing a film of grease and dirt on this invaluable kitchen accessory before one is actually aware of same. Regular care will preclude this, and your ventilator will always be as clean as the rest of the appliances in your kitchen.

CC League Makes Plans For Puppet Show

The Child Conservation League held its monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Richard Penn with Mrs. Donald Hill presiding.

Mrs. William Richards reported on plans being made for the club's annual puppet show which is to be given on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 24, in the Junior High School Auditorium. Posters and tickets will be distributed to all Circleville and nearby county schools. It was noted that children who are not in school or preschool will enjoy the show very much too.

Mrs. Frank Moore reported on the success of the Prenatal Clinic which is held in the basement of Berger Hospital on the first and third Wednesday mornings of each month. The League is glad to note that since its beginning in Dec. of 1966, this clinic has grown from 3 patients to 50 patients.

Mrs. E. W. Hedges, program chairman, said that the guest-day luncheon will be on Tuesday, March 5, at the Pickaway Country Club at 12:30 p. m. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. John W. Eshelman Jr. or Mrs. John Dunlap III by March 1. The speaker will be Father Tabit of the Reformatory in Chillicothe.

The nominating committee was announced. They are: Mrs. Walter Yamerick, Mrs. Richard Moore, Mrs. Richard Plum and Mrs. Kenneth Haman.

Mrs. Hedges then introduced one of the club's members, Mrs. James Stallings, who gave a review of "Sixpence in Her Shoe" by Phyllis McGinley.

Jack Goode To Speak To PC Garden Club

Jack Goode, local nurseryman and landscape architect, will be the speaker for the Tuesday meeting of Pickaway County Garden Club. His subject will be "Trees To Plant."

The session will begin 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Hal Dickinson, 209 N. Scioto St.

Mrs. Karl Seyfarth is program chairman. The featured table arrangement entitled "A Valentine Brunch" will be displayed by Mrs. Ned Harden.

Guild 21 To Meet

Berger Hospital Guild 21 will meet 8 p. m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Franklin Kibler, 334 Watt St.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

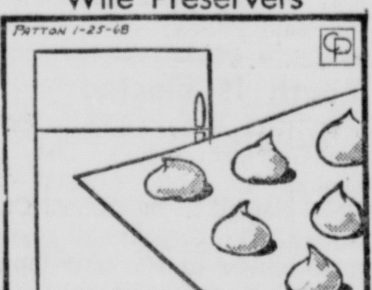

Temperatures around the state were on the mild side during the night, despite almost cloudless skies and light winds. At 5 a. m. the warmest spot in the state was Cleveland with a 33-degree reading, closely followed by Akron at 31. Coldest was Zanesville with an 18, followed by Columbus at 22 degrees.

The springlike weather of the last few days was to end today. A low pressure center in lower Michigan was moving southeastward, bringing cold air in behind it accompanied by clouds, intermittent snow and rather strong winds.

Local snow accumulations of 1 to 3 inches are likely near Lake Erie and over western sections of the state by evening. The snow will change to snow flurries tonight and then gradually taper off Thursday morning.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECAST
Temperatures will be below normal Thursday through Monday, with a cooling trend expected early next week. Highs will be in the 30s and lows in the teens and 20s. Occasional snow late this week will average around .25 inch northeast to .1 inch or less south and west melted.

Tax Surcharge Still Faces Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is assured vital Capitol Hill support for his plans to plug the U.S. dollar drain but still faces strong opposition to his proposed income tax hike.

That was the situation as Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., wound up his House Ways and Means Committee's first round of hearings on the balance-of-payments program Tuesday.

Mills invited administration officials to speed up their recommendations for some sort of assistance to U.S. exports and protection against foreign government-aided imports.

If these were combined with the proposed tax on overseas tourist spending in some form, Mills said, the package could be approved by his committee and passed by the House before the Easter recess expected to begin about April 10.

But Mills left no doubt he remains unconvinced by arguments for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge to reduce the budget deficit.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler had been urging the surcharge as an indispensable part of the balance-of-payments program, arguing it would bolster international confidence in the dollar.

But Mills told Fowler, "I don't see the answer in a tax bill."

Union Goof-Offs Are Criticized

HONOLULU (AP)—The president of the Teamsters Union in Hawaii, Arthur Rutledge, has publicly chastised certain members of his union whom he calls "goof-offs."

Speaking in a union newspaper, Rutledge said there are too kinds of goof-offs. They are:

"The worker who takes a day off the job whenever the notion strikes him, for no properly excusable reason.

"And the worker who abuses the state unemployment compensation program."

Rutledge said the goof-offs make it difficult for the union to settle legitimate grievances among other workers.

Ousted Stokes Aide To Seek Election

CLEVELAND (AP)—Geraldine Williams, dismissed last month as an executive assistant to Mayor Carl B. Stokes because of her connection with an East Side liquor cheat spot, announced Tuesday she will run for Congress.

Miss Williams said she will run in the Democratic primary for the 21st congressional district.

Tax Surcharge Still Faces Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is assured vital Capitol Hill support for his plans to plug the U.S. dollar drain but still faces strong opposition to his proposed income tax hike.

That was the situation as Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., wound up his House Ways and Means Committee's first round of hearings on the balance-of-payments program Tuesday.

Mills invited administration officials to speed up their recommendations for some sort of assistance to U.S. exports and protection against foreign government-aided imports.

If these were combined with the proposed tax on overseas tourist spending in some form, Mills said, the package could be approved by his committee and passed by the House before the Easter recess expected to begin about April 10.

But Mills left no doubt he remains unconvinced by arguments for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge to reduce the budget deficit.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler had been urging the surcharge as an indispensable part of the balance-of-payments program, arguing it would bolster international confidence in the dollar.

But Mills told Fowler, "I don't see the answer in a tax bill."

Union Goof-Offs Are Criticized

HONOLULU (AP)—The president of the Teamsters Union in Hawaii, Arthur Rutledge, has publicly chastised certain members of his union whom he calls "goof-offs."

Speaking in a union newspaper, Rutledge said there are too kinds of goof-offs. They are:

"The worker who takes a day off the job whenever the notion strikes him, for no properly excusable reason.

"And the worker who abuses the state unemployment compensation program."

Rutledge said the goof-offs make it difficult for the union to settle legitimate grievances among other workers.

Ousted Stokes Aide To Seek Election

CLEVELAND (AP) — Geraldine Williams, dismissed last month as an executive assistant to Mayor Carl B. Stokes because of her connection with an East Side liquor cheat spot, announced Tuesday she will run for Congress.

Miss Williams said she will run in the Democratic primary for the 21st congressional district.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Long on Dollars, Short on Sense

DEAR ABBY: I am dating a gentleman who is quite well-to-do, but he has a thing about money. He's not really cheap or anything like that, but he always makes sure I know how much he spends on me.

For instance, he gave me a nice Christmas present, but afterwards he said, "You know, your gift cost me $75?" And if he takes me to dinner and a movie, he later says, "Would you believe that evening set me back $30?"

I enjoy this man's company, Abby, but his always bringing up money makes me feel uncomfortable. My father says he will make a good husband. My mother says he won't. What do you say?

DIANE

DEAR DIANE: I say that a man who makes you feel "uncomfortable" about money when he's counting you will make you feel miserable about money if you marry him. He may be long on dollars, but he sounds short on sense.

DEAR ABBY: I used to think that only unhappily married women became attracted to other men.

I love my husband very much and have a near-perfect marriage, but for a year now I have been fighting a terrible attraction for another man.

When I first realized how I felt about him I was so upset with myself I couldn't sleep. I became extremely irritable and disgusted with myself. Then I told myself that it was only natural to find this man attractive, that he was just a friend and that is all I'd ever want him to be. So I avoided him as much as possible, but still tried to be friendly so no one would notice.

Just about the time I thought I had my thinking straightened out, my emotions flared up again, and I was back where I started from. I don't understand myself. I have no desire to ruin my marriage, but this is driving me crazy and I don't know what to do.

I need some suggestions as this battle with myself has been going on too long.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Keep talking to yourself, Sister. And tell yourself that this is the stuff of which broken marriages (and broken hearts) are made. Believe me, it is.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in business in another town, which is about a two-hour drive from here, so he comes home only on week-ends.

Everything was working out fine until about six months ago when he started bringing me "presents." You see, during the week my husband stays at a trailer court, which is located near the city dump, so every time he comes home he has the trunk of his car filled with junk he's picked up from the dump.

Last week he brought home some moldy shower curtains, hard paint brushes, some rusty nails, and old rags. And Abby, he puts all this stuff in our basement!

If I try to throw anything out there's a big fight. We live

Sanitation Strike Still Plagues N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — The leader of a five-day strike by sanitation men begins a 15-day jail term today for defying a court's back-to-work order as 40,000 tons of garbage—enough to fill 666 railroad coal cars—lie moldering in the streets.

John J. DeLury, president of the striking Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association, was sentenced Tuesday and fined $250 for criminal contempt under the state's Taylor law which forbids strikes by public employees.

State Supreme Court Justice Saul S. Streit continued today a hearing on contempt charges against the union itself. Under the Taylor law the union could be fined up to $10,000 a day or $1 a day for each of its 10,000 members.

Meanwhile the garbage piles grew apace with no progress reported in negotiations aimed at ending the walkout. The 40,000 tons already on the streets is enough to fill a freight train nearly nine miles long.

William Allen White To Be Remembered

By DON REEDER
Associated Press Writer

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP) — Kansas will honor William Allen White, the famed small-town editor who is remembered as the voice of rural America, with a series of centennial programs. He was born 100 years ago this Saturday.

The anniversary events will continue until late summer and will include dedication of an historical marker on the Kansas Turnpike and a monument on the site of the old White home in El Dorado, Kan.

Programs also are scheduled at the University of Kansas.

Next Monday, White's son, William L. White, will speak at the university in his first major address concerning his father. Mark Ethridge, retired publisher of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal, will deliver the annual William Allen White lecture the same day and receive the 1968 citation from the William Allen White Foundation.

Writing with political sagacity, common sense and humor on the great issues of his time, White became a national figure through his editorials in his Emporia Gazette. He also was the author of two dozen books and an estimated 200 magazine articles.

In 1895 White borrowed $3,000 and bought the Gazette.

One day the following year, admittedly "boiling mad" over a street corner political argument, White ripped off a scathing, sardonic editorial called "What's the Matter With Kansas?"

Aimed at Populists supporting William Jennings Bryan in the presidential election campaign against William McKinley, the editorial said:

"What's the matter with Kansas? Nothing under the shining sun. She is losing wealth, population and standing. . . Kansas is all right. She has started to raise hell. . . and seems to have an overproduction. But that doesn't matter. Kansas never did believe in diversified crops."

The editorial was picked up by Mark Hanna, national Republican leader, and circulated around the nation. It was credited with playing a key role in electing McKinley and started White on the road to journalistic glory.

In 1922 White locked horns with an old friend, Kansas Gov. Henry T. Allen.

White put placards in the Gazette office window sympathizing with striking railroad workers. Gov. Allen ordered the signs removed. White refused, calling the order "an infamous infraction of the right of free press and free speech."

Threatened with arrest, White wrote an editorial entitled "To An Anxious Friend" defending free speech even during times of emergency.

"You can have no wise laws nor free enforcement of wise laws unless there is free expression of the wisdom of the people—and, alas, their folly with it," the editorial said.

White and Gov. Allen eventually made their peace, and the editorial won a Pulitzer Prize.

When White died here Jan. 29, 1944, as he neared his 76th birthday, President Franklin D. Roosevelt said in tribute, "As a writer of truth, forcible and vigorous prose, he was unsurpassed."

McCulloch Files For 11th Term

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 4th District Republican congressman, William M. McCulloch of Piqua, filed nomination petitions here today.

McCulloch will be seeking his 11th term in Congress. He was first elected in a special election in 1947.

Hunger Striker Granted Parole

CINCINNATI (AP)—De Courcy Squire, who reportedly fasted for nearly two months after being arrested in a sit-in, was paroled Tuesday with seven months of a workhouse sentence remaining.

The three-man Cincinnati Parole and Pardon Commission granted parole to the 18-year-old Miss Squire who is currently being treated for malnutrition at Cincinnati General Hospital.

The commission voted 2-1 to release her in the custody of her mother after doctors complete their treatment of her and say she can travel.

Lurline Squire, Miss Squire's mother from Morgantown, W. Va., requested the parole Feb. 1.

Weathermen Eye Possible March Floods

14 The Circleville Herald, Wed. Feb. 7, 1968
Circleville, Ohio

By VIC CHASE
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The odds are against a major flood in Ohio this month but March, historically a time of high water still is problematical.
"This time of year the ice reforms quickly," said Howard

Kenny, meteorologist at the U.S. Weather Bureau at Columbus.
"But the 30-day outlook for February is for above normal temperatures and some heavy rain or snow in the west and southwest part of the state with normal precipitation in the east."

He said the average February temperatures range from 33 degrees at Cincinnati to 31 degrees at Cleveland. Continuing with averages, he said the temperatures fluctuate about 17 degrees this time of year so that the low readings will be 20 to 25 degrees and high temperatures will be 35 to 40 degrees.

"All we can say about March," Kenny added, "is that historically it does rate along with January as a month when the potential exists for floods."

If conditions turn out where there is widespread snow and cold that reforms ice we could face a problem but we have no way of judging at this time."

Conceding that "There's a lot we don't really understand about weather," Kenny said factors which contribute to Ohio floods include:

—Snow falling on frozen ground, then melting or being washed off by rain;

—Cold Canadian air being pushed or withdrawn northward across Lake Erie;

—Warm westerly winds blowing eastward from southern California.

Such conditions are most likely in January or March. Kenny said he doesn't know why the conditions occur in those months. "It doesn't happen all the time but frequently enough to cause a pattern," he said. "We refer to these as singularities."

A singular combination of events occurred in eastern Ohio and Pennsylvania in January, 1937. The result was the worst flood on the Ohio River in modern history. An estimated 500,000 persons fled their homes in nine states. The death toll mounted to 150 persons.

About 25,000 persons fled their homes around Portsmouth and another 60,000 were homeless at Cincinnati where the river rose to an unprecedented 80 feet, 28 feet above flood stage.

Snow melting on frozen ground Kenny said, can't soak in so it runs off into streams. It takes 10 inches of snow to equal one inch of water but if it is washed off with one inch of rain there is two inches of water to be disposed of.

If warm air melting the snow comes from across the Rocky Mountains it isn't as likely to cause flooding.

"The process of air rising from ocean levels up to the Rockies tends to wring out the moisture," Kenny said.

"When the air comes around the southern end of the mountains, through New Mexico and west Texas and mixes with the south wind off the Gulf of Mexico it picks up a lot of moisture."

"Then when it gets over a cold snow covered area there is a lot of fog. As it moves north the warm air tends to rise. The air expands and gives up its moisture."

"It's sort of the same process as in the Rocky Mountains but without the mountains. This is a dynamic lifting instead of a mechanical lifting."

Both January and March average about 3.16 inches of precipitation in central Ohio. The December average is 2.34 inches and in February it's 2.31 inches.

In March the seasons start to change, producing alternate cold and warm spells. Winter snow in eastern Ohio and Pennsylvania melts. Ice in the Ohio River breaks up. If it doesn't melt fast enough it can form a dam such as occurred along some streams around Lake Erie last month.

Aside from general floods along major streams some of the events Kenny calls singularities cause serious local floods.

One such singularity occurred around Sandusky, Ohio, last summer when a series of summer thunderstorms moved southeastward across the area in rapid succession. Kenny said rain amounted to about nine inches in eight hours.

Another such incident occurred at Hillsboro in 1965. Kenny said, when something in the atmosphere caused a thunderstorm to stop and regenerate itself. He said it caused about 10 inches of rain in 24 hours.

The record for such local rain in Ohio was around Cambridge in Guernsey County. In less than 72 hours during June 4-6, 1963 most of the county received 20 inches of rain.

"People all around the county were in drought conditions before and after that downpour," Kenny said, "but Guernsey County was soaked."

The record 24-hour rainfall at Columbus was 4.8 inches Jan. 20 1959 while the record one-hour rain for the city was 2.8 inches July 11, 1897. Cleveland had a record of 4.97 inches of rain in the 24 hours of Sept. 1, 1901 while that city's greatest one-hour rain was 2.2 inches June 16, 1946.

The record at Cincinnati was 2.6 inches in one hour of Aug. 7, 1920.

Kenny said the world record for rain occurred at Baguio, on the Philippine Island of Luzon. The city received 46 inches of rain July 14-15, 1911.

McCarthy Hits Pro-Johnson Demos in N.H.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — At a time when presidential aspirants like to show the voters their skill at sports, Sen. Eugene McCarthy has set a new athletic standard—taking part in a rough game of ice hockey.

In a yellow sweatshirt, black trousers, a red helmet and borrowed skates the Minnesota Democrat—challenging President Johnson's Vietnam war policies in primaries—skated out onto the ice rink here Tuesday night to join in a game of hockey.

McCarthy, 51, had been captain and high scorer of his St. John's College team back in Minnesota but it had been a long time since he had been on skates and he told friends later, "this is my last game."

Before swinging into the hockey game—a favorite sport with New Hampshire voters—McCarthy took a shot at the regular Democratic party in New Hampshire, which has not welcomed his challenge of President Johnson.

McCarthy fired a blast at a campaign to write in President Johnson's name in the March 12 presidential preference primary.

Union City Man Faces U.S. Trial

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Joseph B. Jenkinson, 25, Union City, Ohio, charged with embezzlement in the reported shortage of $31,000 from the Union Trust Co. in his home town, was released on $5,000 bond Tuesday after appearing before a U.S. commissioner here.

Jenkinson was dismissed last week as assistant secretary-treasurer of the Union Trust Co.

Legal Gambling

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — State Rep. Fred Foster has introduced a bill in the New Mexico House that would make slot machine gambling legal in New Mexico. Slot machine gambling would be done on machines leased from a state gambling commission.

Lord Butler Discusses Present State of Great Britain

EDITOR'S NOTE—Lord Butler is one of Britain's most experienced and respected elder statesmen. Before being elevated to the peerage he was a Conservative member of Parliament from 1929 to 1965. He has held many posts in British government, including minister of labor, chancellor of the exchequer, leader of the House of Commons, home secretary, deputy prime minister, and foreign secretary. He is now master of Trinity College, Cambridge. Following is a partial text of an interview with John Parrott of the Christian Science Monitor in which Lord Butler discusses such issues as the current state of Britain, the brain drain and the youth of his country and the world. The interview, copyright by The Christian Science Monitor, was made available to The Associated Press.

things go better with Coke

Q. Many are saying that the "Great" has been taken out of Britain. Do you agree with this? If not, how would you challenge this belief?

A. I don't think the "Great" has been taken out of Britain at all—I think she has changed her role. After all, it was only in my lifetime we had this magnificent, as it was called, empire in India with the crown at the head of the edifice. Immense numbers of our young people were joining the forces and going automatically overseas to Egypt, or to India or the Far East.

We can't continue with that sort of role in the modern age. I would say that one of the things we are lacking now is an occupation for our young people.

You see, the ordinary British youth has been occupied a great deal overseas. If you live in a village you find that many of the most modest homes have a son or a father who has served in India or served overseas.

Now this is rapidly coming to an end. We have just withdrawn from Aden which in many ways is a shattering experience—it looks like a retreat. But the fact is that we cannot keep our influence in the modern days in an old colonial pattern.

I think that we have to invent some sort of wide service for our people of a young age. I'm thinking partly of the U.S. Peace Corps and I'm thinking partly of a continuation of some form of national service.

This is not felt by the ordinary person because they have not thought about it. But I believe that as we rapidly give up our overseas obligations we want to find something a little more than football for our young people.

Q. Would you make this compulsory?

A. I think that you have to make it, and I'll use the word like Lord Beveridge, "universal," otherwise it wouldn't be fair. Our Voluntary Services Overseas is broadly the sort of concept I have in mind.

It might involve also social duties and plays in Britain itself—the main fields here being in social welfare. But if they go overseas they will have to take part in teaching and education as they do in our VSO at present.

Q. And this, you think would provide a new momentum for young people?

A. Yes. You see, if they play football, young people are quite healthy and happy—but that is not enough alone. It's better than doing nothing and lounging on street corners, but it is not enough alone.

I think we have seen in Scandinavia, Sweden, and other great countries that they are having considerable young people trouble—even more than we are.

That is partly because the young are so sheltered in what you could describe as a safe and prosperous democracy. But their natural instincts are not met or satisfied.

I don't take so pessimistic a view of the young as some people who don't mix with them so much as I do, because I am at present spending my time living with the young.

I think they are feeling for new experiments—this accounts for their clothes and for the length of their hair, which I think is regrettable.

But I find that the great majority of them are working extremely hard for what they want to do in life.

Q. What are your opinions on the much talked-about "brain drain" of young British talent to the United States? Do you think that this is something that should be controlled, apart from U.S. immigration controls, or do you consider that basically it is a good thing?

A. I personally don't take again so pessimistic a view as some people do about this. For example in my own college we take it for granted that the very brightest young people will go to America for a spell.

Q. What do you think they gain from going to the United States?

A. I think because it is such a rushing and mighty free enterprise civilization such as the world has never seen before. I think it is a very good thing for them to see the "States." What I don't want to be done is for our brains in industry, which we need so much in Britain, to be creamed off simply because of lack of money and paid for by more expensive industry in the United States. That I think is rather a waste.

But what I think is not a waste is when a scientific man finds that he wants to enlarge his experience and his boundaries and either spends some time in America or goes to America—I don't think you can stop science expanding.

Q. What advice would you give to young people generally, as there is currently such a terrific emphasis on youth?

A. My advice to young people would be not to underestimate the old.

I think there is a great danger today which came from the Kennedy image and has been continued partly by the (British Prime Minister Harold) Wilson image, of thinking that you can do everything as a young or middle-aged man.

There is a great tendency for people after about the age of 60 to be retired. With the extra extension of life I think that this is just nonsense. Some of our greatest names—Churchill, the elder Pitt, and many others including the late Lord Attlee—did much of their best work when they were in their older years.

I should advise young people to be thoroughly adventurous, to try out life, but also to use the wisdom of the more experienced—perhaps a little more than they are inclined to do so now. I think this tendency to think that the young must do everything, will pass like any other tendency.

Q. Looking at the present state of the country with its current low morale, what is needed?

A. I think our first duty is to get our economy straight and then I think people will not lose confidence in their pound and their prices and their currency which is what the professional and other classes are feeling now—a great sense of fear.

I think if we got that right it would have much more effect upon our young people and upon the future happiness of our country than they perhaps realize.

Q. Turning to politics, Lord Butler, do you agree that there is a role for a young man in politics today?

A. I take a very personal view of this. I think that the younger a man goes into politics today the better. I don't mean by that necessarily 23, but I mean by the time he is 30. This is because there is so much to learn in our modern complex legislation, whether in America or Britain, that I think the apprenticeship ought to start young.

I started myself at the age of 26 and it certainly did me no harm. It took me years to acquire some of the small knowledge I have now.

Le Roi Jones Advises School

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Negro playwright-poet LeRoi Jones, convicted of illegally possessing weapons during Newark's riots last summer, has been serving as the head of a committee advising a school here on the use of federal funds for deprived children.

The 34-year-old Jones, who is appealing a 2½3 year prison sentence for the weapons offense, was appointed to the Title I advisory committee at the Robert Treat elementary school last September by Charles Haynes, the school's Title I coordinator. The post is unsalaried.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

I, too, was shocked and dismayed, as was Mr. Daniel Porter of the Ohio State Historical Society, at the vile, scandalous arson of the remains of the Great Logan Elm. In July, 1964, I was also shocked at its death.

For several centuries, this giant, majestic tree stood, shading multitudes of blades of grass that grew beneath its great spread. It provided a place for millions of birds to rest. It sheltered the great Chief Logan as he spoke his noble words. And in later years has been a resting and play area for countless thousands.

And, now, due to the ravages of time, age, weather, and the scandalous neglect and torture of man, it's once great majesty has been reduced to a blackened, rotting, decaying splinter of its once great size.

What do we do now? Mr. Porter has suggested that man complete this desecration of this once great creation of nature, by removing it in the Spring. He reasons it is its rotting. He talks of it as though we are clearing this land for the spring plowing. Even Mr. Mack Noggle stated that maybe its a good thing due to its disgraceful appearance. Why is it rotting? Why is it disgraceful appearing? Certainly it had a tenacity of life shown by very few other living things. Yes, and man even tried to help it live. But what now? Forget it? Destroy all that is left of it? Reduce this historical park and its heritage to a meaningless picnic grounds and watering pump? Or, should we attempt to hold on to at least a little of it as a monument to Logan. In life it grew and lived as few other living things do, almost as if it knew that it was a living monument to a man whose "blood ran in the veins of no living creature." It's rot, its decay, its appearance belong to us, these things are not its fault.

The log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln is believed to have been born would be a much sadder sight to behold if the State of Kentucky and our Federal Government had not had the foresight to preserve it and enclose it in a building. Would this not be feasible for "Our Tree?" And wouldn't it mean infinitely more to the countless thousands of new, and old, visitors to Logan Elm Park, to be able to see at least a part of "The Tree," even enclosed in a building, and the place where Logan spoke, than to just stare at a granite plaque saying, "Once upon a time —"

Now is the time to make a decision. Shall this great creation of nature, unblemished in stature by all its misfortune, be saved or destroyed?

How this proposal would be accomplished, I do not know. But if it is to be considered, now is the time, for, according to Mr. Porter, Spring is too late.

Dear Sir:

Ever since we got involved in the mess in Vietnam we have been told over and over that the only reason for our being there was to help South Vietnam build itself a government that would be strong enough to resist the encroachment of Communism.

When we got involved in Korea we were told the same thing. When all was over we settled for a stalemate, a division line was established. South of that line lies that half of the nation we defended. Events of the past couple weeks indicate we settled little in Korea. It remains a powder-keg ready to be ignited at any time.

It is difficult for me to believe that South Korea can now take care of itself. It is just as difficult for me to believe that South Vietnam can take care of itself if we are to ever pull out of there.

General Sherman said "War is hell" and he could have added—"any nation getting involved in one should be prepared to raise a maximum of it if it expects to win." Such is true for us in Vietnam. As I see it we have just two choices: one is to get out — the other to strike with all the force we can muster.

To be called a dove, or to be called a jingoist, makes little difference to me. Both denotes an objectivity, and that is far more than can be said for our tactics in Vietnam.

War in any degree is no picnic. The danger of escalation is always a possibility. To get into a military conflict without giving due thought to the consequences is a foolhardy undertaking. The consensus of opinion as I have heard it voiced by many in Washington and on down to just plain old John Doe gives me to believe we have made some major mistakes. How many more are we going to make before we wise-up?

Look At Legal Side of Transplants

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Any day now—perhaps tomorrow—someone is going to hurl a charge of murder at the doctor in some heart-transplant case."

This prophecy by Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger will lead this week to formation of a committee of medical and legal authorities to draft legislation expected to serve as a guide to cities across the nation.

The committee, which Younger believes will be the first of its kind anywhere, holds its initial meeting Friday. Younger says it will include representatives from medical schools and societies as well as law enforcement experts.

"The need is immediate," Younger said in an interview explaining his plan. "I have information that at least two major medical institutions in this area—which I am not free to name—are gearing up for heart transplants whenever the opportunity arises."

"These are reputable institutions, but even they may be subjected to criticism. And what of the small hospital, or the individual doctor, who may have plans that I don't know about? Is there anything to prevent them from attempting a transplant of a heart or some other vital organ? Even if such an operation were successful, the situation is loaded with potential complaints."

"There are many foreseeable situations not covered by existing law. We have a duty to protect the physician from charges that he is using humans for guinea pigs, and at the same time the public must be assured that living beings, no matter how desperately ill, will not be sacrificed."

"The publicity about recent heart transplants is a heady wine. It builds reputations for doctors, hospitals and even nations."

South Africa, Younger said, "has never had so much publicity as it has had since Dr. Christian Barnard made the first human heart transplant."

Younger said it is inevitable "that somebody will get in a hurry and use bad judgment as the frequency of such operations increases. We have a duty to anticipate such problems and know how to handle them when they arise."

Among the questions Younger will ask the committee to tackle:

1. Precisely when does death occur? When breathing stops? When the heart stops? When an electroencephalogram shows no further brain activity?

2. Who shall have priority in obtaining available hearts?

3. Who shall give consent for the taking of a heart? Younger pointed out that the donor may be unconscious and unable to give consent, and that relatives—particularly if they are of divided religious beliefs—may seek criminal action later against the physician.

4. Who shall give consent for implanting a heart in a minor?

5. Who may attempt transplants?

its two-member cast and producer have been arrested nine times since it opened two weeks ago. They have posted $25,000 in bail and continue to keep paying $625 each for release each night.

Meanwhile, a U.S. district judge ruled Monday that there are "serious constitutional questions" involved in the continuing arrests. He has ordered a three-judge panel to convene Friday to rule on the matter.

"The Beard," was written by San Francisco playwright Michael McClure—who was arrested on opening night and charged with using obscenity and disturbing the peace. He pleaded innocent Monday. His trial was set for March 25.

A vice squad raided "The Beard's" premiere in San Francisco in 1965, but the case was subsequently thrown out of court.

In Los Angeles, police denied Barrows a permit to produce the play. The permit is normally a minor technicality for productions. On opening night they arrested him, Alexandra Hay, 20, and Richard Bright, 20, on charges of producing a play without a permit. On subsequent nights all were charged with lewd and dissolute conduct and using obscenity in a public place.

Drug Use High
In Medina County?

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — The Medina County sheriff says as many as 200 young persons in the county use narcotics in mild and addictive forms.

Sheriff Norman J. Stuart estimates that about 30 percent of the 200 use marijuana and only a few are addicted to heroin. Also, some young persons use LSD, he said.

Medina authorities say they have established that the users obtain some of their drugs from Lake County and in Cleveland's university circle area.

Find 42nd Body
From Bridge

MANCHESTER, Ohio (AP) — The death toll from the recent Silver Birdge tragedy at Kanauga, Ohio, rose to 42 Tuesday as the body of Denzil R. Taylor was recovered from the Ohio River.

Adams County sheriffs deputies said the body of Taylor, 25, Point Pleasant, W. Va., was pulled from the river here, nearly 120 miles from Kanauga, by two area farmers.

Police said they identified the partially decomposed body as that of Taylor from papers found in his wallet.

Officials said four persons are still listed as missing as a result of the collapse of the bridge.

MANCHESTER, Ohio (AP)—The death toll from the recent Silver Birdge tragedy at Kanauga, Ohio, rose to 42 Tuesday as the body of Denzil R. Taylor was recovered from the Ohio River.

Adams County sheriffs deputies said the body of Taylor, 25, Point Pleasant, W. Va., was pulled from the river here, nearly 120 miles from Kanauga, by two area farmers.

Police said they identified the partially decomposed body as that of Taylor from papers found in his wallet.

Officials said four persons are still listed as missing as a result of the collapse of the bridge.

Drug Use High In Medina County?

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—The Medina County sheriff says as many as 200 young persons in the county use narcotics in mild and addictive forms.

Sheriff Norman J. Stuart estimates that about 30 per cent of the 200 use marijuana and only a few are addicted to heroin. Also, some young persons use LSD, he said.

Medina authorities say they have established that the users obtain some of their drugs from Lake County and in Cleveland's university circle area.

its two-member cast and producer have been arrested nine times since it opened two weeks ago. They have posted $25,000 in bail and continue to keep paying $625 each for release each night.

Meanwhile, a U.S. district judge ruled Monday that there are "serious constitutional questions" involved in the continuing arrests. He has ordered a three-judge panel to convene Friday to rule on the matter.

"The Beard," was written by San Francisco playwright Michael McClure—who was arrested on opening night and charged with using obscenity and disturbing the peace. He pleaded innocent Monday. His trial was set for March 25.

A vice squad raided "The Beard's" premiere in San Francisco in 1965, but the case was subsequently thrown out of court.

In Los Angeles, police denied Barrows a permit to produce the play. The permit is normally a minor technicality for productions. On opening night they arrested him, Alexandra Hay, 20, and Richard Bright, 20, on charges of producing a play without a permit. On subsequent nights all were charged with lewd and dissolute conduct and using obscenity in a public place.

Arson Probed In School Blaze

CINCINNATI (AP) — A fire which caused $3,500 damage Tuesday to buildings at Hoffman Elementary School and slightly injured one fireman was being investigated today.

Firemen blamed the blaze on arson and disclosed that an attempt had been made to set the school afire recently but it failed.

Area Cage Teams To End Season; Prep for Tourney

Area basketball teams get ready for the tournaments as they wrap up their seasons this weekend and next.

Friday action finds Teays Valley traveling to Reynoldsburg, Logan Elm hosting Southeastern and Westfall at Laurelville.

On Saturday, Teays Valley travels to Waverly, Westfall hosts Piketon, Logan Elm hosts Uniono and Laurelville hosts Southeastern.

Scioto Valley Conference and the Metropolitan League end their scheduled week.

TEAYS Valley, can do not better than second in the Metro League. The Pleasant View Panthers have already won the title, while the Vikings are currently tied with Whitehall for second.

The SVC will end in a two-way tie for the cage crown. Four teams deadlocked for the lead meet this weekend in a round of action that will eliminate two.

Westfall plays at Laurelville Friday to determine one of the co-titlists and Logan Elm hosts Uniono Saturday to decide the other. The four teams all have 31 records.

Although no title is at stake, one of the top games of the year for local cage fans will be at Logan Elm where the Braves will battle number one ranked Southeastern of Ross County.

Twice state finalists, Southeastern has only been defeated once this year.

There are two returning starters from last year's squad, Doug Hill and Ray Tackett, a pair of guards that have to rank with the best in the state.

Lords, Scots Both Win Road Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kenyon and Wooster, two of the four teams pressing leading Otterbein in the Ohio Conference basketball race, kept their hopes high Tuesday night with important road victories.

Both made their records 6-2 in the league, Kenyon beating Muskingum 78-65 and Wooster downing Oberlin 74-65. Otterbein boasts an 8-1 record, followed by Denison, 8-2, and Baldwin-Wallace, 7-2.

In a contest between OC second division teams, Marietta beat Capital 67-62, while Baldwin-Wallace stretched its home court winning streak to 21 with an 81-78 victory over nonleague Akron.

Elsewhere, Kent State beat Pittsburgh 83-73, Ashland made its record 17-1 with a 56-37 victory over Slippery Rock, Goshen beat Defiance 96-76, Youngstown beat Alliance 103-73, Wilmington routed Centre 106-79 and Walsh nipped Cedarville 73-69.

Muskingum tried to slow it down against high-scoring Kenyon but succeeded only in keeping the Lords below their season average. John Dunlop had 25 points, John Rinka 24 for the winners, while Ken Gandola had 21 for the losers.

Wooster was behind with four minutes left, but Rich Thompson, who totaled 26 points, broke a 59-59 tie with a field goal and the Scots breezed in. Al Wellington's 20 points led Oberlin.

Mark Ulrey and Ray Nelson had 16 points apiece for Marietta, which beat Capital with a strong second half. Baldwin-Wallace, which started its home winning streak two years ago with a victory over Akron, was led by Terry Allerton with 20 points Tuesday night.

Roy Crite had 24 for the losing Zips.

Kent, which is earning a spoiler reputation in the Mid-American Conference, traveled outside the circuit and scored a relatively easy victory at Pitt. The Flashes made a flashy 22 straight foul shots and 29 of 33 in the game. Tom Lagodich led the scorers with 15 points.

Ashland, which now owns the best record among Ohio college teams, was led by John Scheetzle's 18 points. Defiance had the state's best record, but fell to 17-2 with the convincing defeat at the hands of Goshen, which got a big 43-point performance from Keith Springer.

The top Yellow Jacket scorer was Denny Moore, with 18 points.

Frank Fitz scored 32 points and grabbed 26 rebounds in Youngstown's win, Wilmington scored 63 points in the second half to overwhelm Centre, and Joe Eaton's 20 points paced Walsh to its victory over Cedarville.

Viking Frosh Win 13th Tilt

Brent Roof Notches 18 for Teays Valley

Teays Valley freshmen remained undefeated, handing Reynoldsburg a 69-33 beating Tuesday.

Brent Roof paced the Vikings to their 13th decision in as many starts, pouring nine field goals through the nets for 18 marks.

Jeff Helser scored 14 points for the winners and pulled in 14 rebounds. Van Gregg notched 13.

For Reynoldsburg, McCormick scored 19. The Vikings jumped out to a 17-7 first quarter lead and were leading 36-21 at halftime.

BY the beginning of the fourth period the score was 52-32 with the Vikings leading.

Teays Valley hit 32 of 61 field goal attempts for a 52 per cent shooting average. At the foul line they notched five of 15, a 31 per cent average. They committed eight turnovers.

The final game in the South Suburban League for Teays Valley is Feb. 15 at Brook Park Junior High School.

Santa Anita Doubleheader Set Saturday

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Santa Anita makes up for lost time Saturday by staging a doubleheader — Damascus heading one east and Austrian Tobin Bronze the other.

Racing resumed at the track today following agreement on a new contract which boosts purses to 43 per cent of the track's share of pari-mutuel receipts.

The pact ended three days of boycotting by horse owners who refused to enter races and caused the track to cease operations Friday, Saturday and Tuesday. No races were scheduled Sunday or Monday.

Damascus will be seeking an unprecedented sweep of Santa Anita's series for 4-year-olds when he heads the lineup in the $100,000-added Charles H. Strub Stakes, a mile and one quarter event originally scheduled last Saturday.

Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's colt will carry top weight of 126 pounds after scoring resounding triumphs in the Malibu and San Fernando Stakes.

Tobin Bronze drew high weight of 125 for the $30,000-added San Marcos, which will be raced over the turf course also at a mile and a quarter.

Sets New Record In Vertical Throw

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — In the AAU record book, by chance one day, George Frenn found that on Feb. 20, 1914, in San Francisco Pat Donovan tossed a 56-pound weight vertically 16 feet 11 1/4 inches.

Frenn, 26, set to work on his own technique for directing the weight straight up at a three-foot wooden disc suspended from pole vault standards.

Tuesday he was ready. With six AAU officials on hand at an open meet at Long Beach State, Frenn clipped the bottom of the disc 17 feet from the ground.

Marlington Cage Team Intelligent, Too

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When you're talking about Stark County basketball powers, the names of Canton McKinley and Canton Lincoln are bound to pop up.

But the word is out to keep an eye on Marlington High School when section competition opens in two weeks.

At Marlington, two miles west of Alliance, success in the classroom as well as on the basketball court is a matter of record.

The Dukes, a Class AA school, have the best record (14-1) best offense (1,142 points) and one of the top defensive marks (784 points) in Stark County.

And of the seven members of the Duke varsity who are seniors, six have made the National Honor Society. The other missed that elite scholastic group by a hundredth of a point.

Tom Robinson, the Dukes' No. 2 scorer, is second in his senior class.

The team's leading scorer is 6-foot-10 junior Luke Witte who has swished in 388 points to lead the county in scoring.

The only Marlington loss was a one-pointer, 58-57 to Louisville in December. But the Dukes made up for that setback last weekend by trouncing Louisville 77-58.

Scholastic sidelights:

Carroll Hawhee, in his 21st year as head basketball coach at Waverly High School, won his 300th game Saturday night in a 74-68 decision over Akron Tallmadge.

The victory also was significant for Waverly's sophomore star, Denny Thompson, whose brother Bob is a freshman on the Ohio State cage team. Denny broke his brother's scoring mark for sophs at the school (278) and now has accumulated 309 points.

Portsmouth East's Bob Craft has scored over 30 points four times this season and has hit 40 once. He is averaging 30.6.

Allan Hornyak, the state's leading scorer from Bellaire St. John's, had another good week with 52 Friday and 48 Saturday. The 6-1 junior now has 617 points in 15 games for a 41 point average.

Mark Thompson, Mount Pleasant's (Jefferson County) 6-3 junior, pumped in 38 points and hauled down 26 rebounds as his team avenged an earlier loss to Wayne with a 103-87 romp Friday.

He edged out Wayne's Gary Davenport, 6-7 senior, who scored 36. Davenport holds Wayne's single game scoring record with 44 points. Mount Pleasant, winning 11 straight, now is 13-1.

Stevensville, coming strong with a late surge, knocked off Salem 72-61 in the wake of Salem's surprising 35-32 upset over previously unbeaten and No. 8 ranked East Liverpool. The Big Red now shows a 10-3 record.

Three schools in Athens County still have long winning streaks alive. Athens, after a season-opening setback, has ripped off 15 straight. Alexander has nailed 16 foes in a row and Federal-Hocking has run off 13.

Muskies Gain Tie in ABA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Muskies have hooked onto a share of first place in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball League with seconds to spare.

Skip Thoren pulled up the Muskies when he tossed them the hook, a shot with four seconds remaining that lifted Minnesota to a 112-110 victory over New Orleans Tuesday night.

Pittsburgh lost its sole grip on the top spot when Indiana surprisingly pulled down the Pipers 113-100.

Minnesota and Pittsburgh now are virtually tied, although the Pipers still hang onto a lead of percentage points.

In the only other game, Oakland upended Dallas 99-98.

Italian Takes Olympic Skiing Gold Medal

AUTRANS, France (AP) — Italy's Franco Nones outraced favored Scandinavian skiers in the men's 30-kilometer cross-country test today and captured the first gold medal in the 1968 Winter Olympic Games.

Nones, leading from start to finish, sped through the demanding, 18.6 mile overland course in one hour, 35 minutes, 39.2 seconds to beat Norwegian ace Odd Martinsen and defending champion Eero Maentyranta of Finland. Martinsen was second in 1:36:28.9, Maentyranta third in 1:36:55.3.

A four-man American contingent, led by Mike Gallagher of Killington, Vt., was far back in the pack.

last year, bombed the nets for 32 Friday against Gallipolis and 4 Saturday against Belpre.

Class A Streetsboro, ranked sixth with a 15-0 record, set a school record in a 128-39 blast of Warren Market Saturday.

Toledo Libbey, No. 10 in Class AA, gets a chance to avenge its lone defeat of the season when it collides with Toledo Central, ranked fourth, for the Toledo City League championship Feb. 16. Central won the last encounter between the clubs 48-43.

New Mexico State

Coach Real Winger

CHICAGO (AP) — You might call Lou Henson of 10th-ranked New Mexico State a real winger of a basketball coach.

Henson, whose Aggies, 17-2, collide in a tense rematch with sixth-ranked University of New Mexico, 17-1, at Albuquerque, N.M. Wednesday night, made a 2,000-mile round trip by plane to personally address the Chicago Basketball Writers Tuesday.

Pasarell, Leschley

Seeded in Tennis

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Defending champion Charles Pasarell and Jan Leschley were top-seeded in the domestic and foreign draw today for the U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championships opening Monday in Salisbury.

Pasarell, a Puerto Rican ranked No. 1 in the United States, will be after his third consecutive indoor title.

Leschley, a left-hander, is the top player in Denmark and has wide experience on the indoor courts.

The other domestic seeds include Arthur Ashe, who lost to Pasarell in last year's finals, Cliff Richey and Clark Graebner.

Fred Schleicher

Quits as Coach

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Fred Schleicher, wrestling coach at Ohio University the past 19 years, announced today he is resigning at the end of the current season.

The coach, 47, said he will remain at the university as a full-time staff member in the School of Physical Education, Health and Recreation.

Schleicher's Bobcat wrestling teams have compiled a record of 93-58-5 going into this season.

Mizell To Run

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Vinegar Bend Mizell, former major league pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals, Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Mets, announced Tuesday his candidacy in North Carolina's fifth district congressional race. He is a Republican.

Billy Kidd Twists Ankle

CHAMROUSSE, France (AP) — Billy Kidd, the No. 1 U.S. hope for a medal in Alpine skiing at the Winter Olympics, twisted an ankle today and may not be able to race in Thursday's downhill.

The 24-year-old native of Stowe, Vt., fell near the top of the course on his nonstop training run. Coach Bob Beattie at first did not think it was serious but after talking with his racer said it's doubtful Kidd will be able to compete Thursday.

"It's his bad ankle," Beattie said, referring to the one Kidd injured at Kitzbuhel in 1966. Later that year, at Portillo, Kidd broke his other leg, but he has been making a remarkable comeback this year.

The Dukes, a Class AA school, have the best record (14-1) best offense (1,142 points) and one of the top defensive marks (784 points) in Stark County.

And of the seven members of the Duke varsity who are seniors, six have made the National Honor Society. The other missed that elite scholastic group by a hundredth of a point.

Tom Robinson, the Dukes' No. 2 scorer, is second in his senior class.

The team's leading scorer is 6-foot-10 junior Luke Witte who has swished in 388 points to lead the county in scoring.

The only Marlington loss was a one-pointer, 58-57 to Louisville in December. But the Dukes made up for that setback last weekend by trouncing Louisville 77-58.

North Carolina Defeats Virginia With 34 Assist

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina's Tar Heels, enjoying one of their best seasons, set what is believed to be a national collegiate basketball record with a total of 34 assists in beating Virginia.

The Tar Heels, third ranked nationally to Houston and UCLA in The Associated Press poll, accomplished the feat Tuesday night as they routed the Cavaliers 108-64 for their 13th straight victory.

"We must have set a record with our assists," said Dean Smith, North Carolina coach, after a capacity crowd of 8,800

Knicks Top St. Louis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks, who waited almost half a season before righting themselves with Red Holman, waited another three quarters Tuesday night before finally overturning the St. Louis Hawks.

A 10-point spurge at the start of the fourth quarter did the trick, turning a precarious six-point lead into a 16-point bulge and the Knicks pounded the Hawks 121-100 for their first victory over St. Louis this season in four games.

The game was the second half of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, following Detroit's 120-93 rout over San Diego.

In other games, touring San Francisco slipped by Chicago 126-124 in overtime and Los Angeles' bombedard Cincinnati 146-102 on the West Coast.

at Chapel Hill saw the Tar Heels spot Virginia a 12-6 lead, then rally to win easily.

"We got beat by a good team," commented Bill Gibson, the Virginia coach, after the Tar Heels had upped their overall record to 15-1 led by Rusty Clark's 19 points and 16 rebounds. Norman Carmichael led Virginia with 18 points and 10 rebounds.

Army, which hasn't made The AP Top Ten so far, and Duke, which dropped out of the select group this week, featured the other games.

The West Point Cadets strengthened their chances for a bid to either the NCAA or NIT postseason tournaments by whipping Rutgers 50-41 for their 10th in a row and 16-3 overall. Bill Schutsky's 23 points paced the Cadets to their home court triumph.

Duke made it 11 straight at home by whipping Maryland 85-64 at Durham behind Mike Lewis' 32 points and 18 rebounds. The Blue Devils now are 12-3 for the season.

Illinois kept on the heels of Ohio State in the Big Ten by beating Wisconsin on the road 68-60. Villanova also won on the road by downing Detroit 63-55 behind 30 points from Johnny Jones.

Notre Dame took DePaul 91-85 in overtime. Boston College thumped Massachusetts 94-70, Davidson defeated Furman 55-40 and Seattle vanquished Portland 81-66 in home court triumphs. Brown upset Rhode Island 69-68 at Providence.

In the Southwest Conference, Arkansas beat Texas Tech 61-56, Baylor downed Texas 74-58 and Texas Christian humbled Southern Methodist 91-64, all home court victories. Texas A&M won on the road over Rice 75-66.

hauled down 26 rebounds as his team avenged an earlier loss to Wayne with a 103-87 romp Friday.

He edged out Wayne's Gary Davenport, 6-7 senior, who scored 36. Davenport holds Wayne's single game scoring record with 44 points. Mount Pleasant, winning 11 straight, now is 13-1.

Steubenville, coming strong with a late surge, knocked off Salem 72-61 in the wake of Salem's surprising 35-32 upset over previously unbeaten and No. 8 ranked East Liverpool. The Big Red now shows a 10-3 record.

Three schools in Athens County still have long winning streaks alive. Athens, after a season-opening setback, has ripped off 15 straight. Alexander has nailed 16 foes in a row and Federal-Hocking has run off 13.

Scholastic sidelights:

Carroll Hawhee, in his 21st year as head basketball coach at Waverly High School, won his 300th game Saturday night in a 74-68 decision over Akron Tallmadge.

The victory also was significant for Waverly's sophomore star, Denny Thompson, whose brother Bob is a freshman on the Ohio State cage team. Denny broke his brother's scoring mark for sophs at the school (278) and now has accumulated 309 points.

Portsmouth East's Bob Craft has scored over 30 points four times this season and has hit 40 once. He is averaging 30.6.

Allan Hornyak, the state's leading scorer from Bellaire St. John's, had another good weekend with 52 Friday and 48 Saturday. The 6-1 junior now has 617 points in 15 games for a 41 point average.

Mark Thompson, Mount Pleasant's (Jefferson County) 6-3 junior, pumped in 38 points and

Peggy Leads In Skating

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Pretty Peggy Fleming, America's world figure skating queen, grabbed a commanding lead today in her bid for a gold medal at the Winter Olympic Games.

The 19-year-old ice ballerina from Colorado Springs took top marks in each of the first two compulsory figures and moved 30.4 points ahead of her closest challenger, Gabriele Seyfert of East Germany as 32 girls from 15 nations began competition at the Grenoble Ice Stadium.

The final three school figures will be skated Thursday, followed by the free skating finale Saturday. Compulsory comprise 60 per cent of the total score.

Miss Fleming received the top grades for her two figures — the "left back paragraph three" and "right forward inside rocker" — from all but one of the nine judges in compiling a total of 37.34 points. Miss Seyfert finished the first day's competition with 34.30 points and Austria's Beatrix Schuba was third with 34.07.

Muskies Gain Tie in ABA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Muskies have hooked onto a share of first place in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball League with seconds to spare.

Skip Thoren pulled up the Muskies when he tossed them the hook, a shot with four seconds remaining that lifted Minnesota to a 112-110 victory over New Orleans Tuesday night.

Pittsburgh lost its sole grip on the top spot when Indiana surprisingly pulled down the Pipers 113-100.

Minnesota and Pittsburgh now are virtually tied, although the Pipers still hang onto a lead of percentage points.

In the only other game, Oakland upended Dallas 99-98.

Italian Takes Olympic Skiing Gold Medal

AUTRANS, France (AP) — Italy's Franco Nones outraced favored Scandinavian skiers in the men's 30-kilometer cross-country test today and captured the first gold medal in the 1968 Winter Olympic Games.

Nones, leading from start to finish, sped through the demanding, 18.6 mile overland course in one hour, 35 minutes, 39.2 seconds to beat Norwegian ace Odd Martinsen and defending champion Eero Maentyranta of Finland. Martinsen was second in 1:36:28.9, Maentyranta third in 1:36:55.3.

A four-man American contingent, led by Mike Gallagher of Killington, Vt., was far back in the pack.

New Mexico State Coach Real Winger

CHICAGO (AP) — You might call Lou Henson of 10th-ranked New Mexico State a real winger of a basketball coach.

Henson, whose Aggies, 17-2, collide in a tense rematch with sixth-ranked University of New Mexico, 17-1, at Albuquerque, N. M. Wednesday night, made a 2,000-mile round trip by plane to personally address the Chicago Basketball Writers Tuesday.

Pasarell, Leschley Seeded in Tennis

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Defending champion Charles Pasarell and Jan Leschley were top-seeded in the domestic and foreign draw today for the U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championships opening Monday in Salisbury.

Pasarell, a Puerto Rican ranked No. 1 in the United States, will be after his third consecutive indoor title.

Leschley, a left-hander, is the top player in Denmark and has wide experience on the indoor boards.

The other domestic seeds include Arthur Ashe, who lost to Pasarell in last year's finals, Cliff Richey and Clark Graebner.

Fred Schleicher Quits as Coach

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Fred Schleicher, wrestling coach at Ohio University the past 19 years, announced today he is resigning at the end of the current season.

The coach, 47, said he will remain at the university as a full-time staff member in the School of Physical Education, Health and Recreation.

Schleicher's Bobcat wrestling teams have compiled a record of 93-58-5 going into this season.

Mizell To Run

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Vinegar Bend Mizell, former major league pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals, Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Mets, announced Tuesday his candidacy in North Carolina's fifth district congressional race. He is a Republican.

Competition Grows in Olympics

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Competition picked up momentum today at the 10th Winter Olympic Games after an opening day devoted mostly to ceremonial pomp and the settlement of a troublesome ski squabble.

French President Charles de Gaulle presided at the colorful ceremonies which officially opened the Games Tuesday. A crowd of some 60,000 fans jammed the Olympic Stadium to watch the festivities.

Hockey dominated the first day's athletic activities. In the opening game, the United States bowed to Czechoslovakia 5-1. In other games, Russia crushed Finland 8-0 and Canada defeated West Germany 6-1.

But the most significant opening day development was the compromise reached between the International Ski Federation and the International Olympic Committee in the ski-trademark controversy.

The IOC had clashed with the Ski Federation when the latter ruled that competitors would be allowed to use skis carrying manufacturer's names on them.

Rhodes Urges Quick Work On River Span

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes says he favors a plan which would reduce construction time for a new bridge spanning the Ohio River to about two years.

Rhodes, who met here Tuesday with city, county and civic leaders to discuss replacing the Silver Bridge which collapsed Dec. 15, claiming more than 40 lives, reported state and federal officials had scheduled a meeting in Washington today to discuss the matter.

He said Rep. Clarence E. Miller, R-Ohio, was to represent him at the Washington meeting to be attended by federal officials, White House representatives and congressmen from Ohio and West Virginia.

At the Gallipolis meeting, Rhodes outlined three proposed sites selected by engineers of the two states to replace the Silver Bridge, which spanned the river between Kanawha, Ohio, and Point Pleasant, W. Va.

These are south of the Kanawha River between U.S. 35 in Ohio and Henderson, W. Va., or on either side of the existing Penn Central railroad bridge.

The railroad span is situated near the site where the Silver Bridge stood.

Rhodes, who said Ohio and West Virginia engineers have been working closely in selecting a site, reported that cost of a new structure has been estimated at approximately $7 million.

Engineers estimate normal time required for construction at between 43 and 60 months. But Rhodes added that he favors a plan which could reduce construction time to between 18 and 24 months.

The governor said the bridge must be replaced as soon as possible. He cited $1 million monthly mileage and time cost losses to Ohio and West Virginia motorists who used the bridge but now are forced to take longer detour routes across the river.

Normal traffic over the original bridge had been estimated at 200,000 vehicles per month.

Size of Crews Said Behind Rail Strike

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Negotiations are at a standstill and so are most of the trains of the Missouri Pacific, Texas & Pacific, and Seaboard Coast railroads.

The strike by the International Brotherhood of Trainmen began Monday night against MOPAC and its subsidiary, Texas & Pacific, and spread to Seaboard Tuesday. The issue: How many men does it take to run a train?

Nearly 50,000 employees on the three lines could be affected by the strike. There was no indication of how many were observing the picket lines, although MOPAC spokesmen said most of its 23,500 employees refused to cross the lines.

MOPAC's 12-state system serves portions of the Midwest, Southwest and South. Seaboard operates in six southeastern and southern states.

After the strike started, MOPAC posted notices saying the company has the right to determine the size of crews. Harry Hammer, a public relations officer for MOPAC, said he understood these other railroads posted similar notices: Seaboard, Boston & Maine, Chesapeake & Ohio, Union Pacific, Southern & Gulf, and the Mobile & Ohio.

MOPAC serves four major arsenals, several military bases and defense manufacturers along its 12,000 miles of track. Seaboard said it has canceled all passenger service and curtailed freight service but promised to try to deliver perishable goods.

The full 16-game home schedule will be played at Cleveland Stadium and includes a Sunday afternoon game April 28 with the Oakland Clippers, plus eight Saturday night and six Wednesday night contests.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Los Angeles Wolves will provide the opposition in the first home game April 21 for the Cleveland Stokers professional soccer team.

The full 16-game home schedule will be played at Cleveland Stadium and includes a Sunday afternoon game April 28 with the Oakland Clippers, plus eight Saturday night and six Wednesday night contests.

the settlement emerged out of an emergency meeting of the IOC Congress.

Marc Hodler of Switzerland, president of the Ski Federation, said any skier ignoring the newly adopted rule would be disqualified. He said competitors would have to leave their equipment in a special area before posing for pictures.

In Tuesday's hockey, the United States fell behind early before getting a tying goal by Doug Voimar of Minneapolis. Then Czechoslovakia scored two goals in each of the last two periods to win it.

Today's schedule listed compulsory figures in women's figure skating, the men's 30-kilometer cross-country ski race, men's downhill non-stop training run and the first two heats in the two-man bobsled competition as well as hockey.

Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., America's top gold medal hope, led the U.S. girls in figure skating. Also entered were Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., and Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill.

In the cross-country ski race, Charles Kellogg of Boston; Mike Elliot of Durango, Colo.; Mike Gallagher of Killington, Vt., and Jon Lufkin of Rumford, Maine, were the American entries.

Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., Jere Elliott, Steamboat Springs, Colo., Dennis McCoy, Bishop, Calif., and James Barrows, Steamboat Springs, Colo., were entered in the men's downhill.

Entered in the two-man bobsled event were Paul Lamey, Manchester, N.H., and Robert Huscher, New York, in one bob, and Howard Clifton, Elora, N.Y., and Michael Luce, Keene, N.Y., in a second sled.

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS's team of producer-writer Andrew Rooney and narrator Harry Reasoner have developed, over the past couple of seasons, a television specialty—the illustrated essay.

Rooney has contributed a delightful point of view about the most ordinary objects of our environment—bridges and doors—and has turned them into bright symbols of our lives. Reasoner, who is the fellow CBS emcee, has the lighter aspects of life the way it hands Eric Sevareid the sober aspects, has been able to suggest that the relationship of mankind to both doors and bridges is both funny and significant.

Therefore, it was with considerable interest that we awaited the approach of the Rooney-Reasoner team to the subject of chairs. Alas and alack, Rooney and Reasoner, in Tuesday night's, "Essay on Chairs" had little to contribute to the subject beyond some glittering, rather tired, generalities, plus a roll-call of the species.

"There was a first man and he probably sat on the first chair," began Reasoner in his best crisp, dry style. Then he proceeded to inform us that the throne was "the supreme chair."

There followed a display of chairs that would have done credit to any furniture catalogue. We first saw the kitchen chair, which seemed to have inspired Rooney—he called it a chair of all work that was used for sitting, as a ladder, "to change light bulbs and is frequently painted, usually hurriedly."

Then came the overstuffed living room chair, the dining room chair, the one chair in everybody's house that, for some reason, nobody ever sits on, assorted folding chairs, the Morris chair, the Windsor chair, the rocking chair in various styles, the deck chair which has now become a lawn chair. But after showing them, there seemed to be little that could be said that was either witty or wise.

It once seemed that the Rooney-Reasoner combine had a whole series of essays ahead of them—on tables, beds, rugs, windows, maybe even on porches and wall decorations. As it turns out, perhaps the spring of inspiration has dried up.

The problem, perhaps, lies not so much at the hands of the writer and narrator as with network demands. About once a month, CBS breaks its weekly Tuesday night news hour into two parts, one handed back to the local stations for programming, and the other consisting of a short network program.

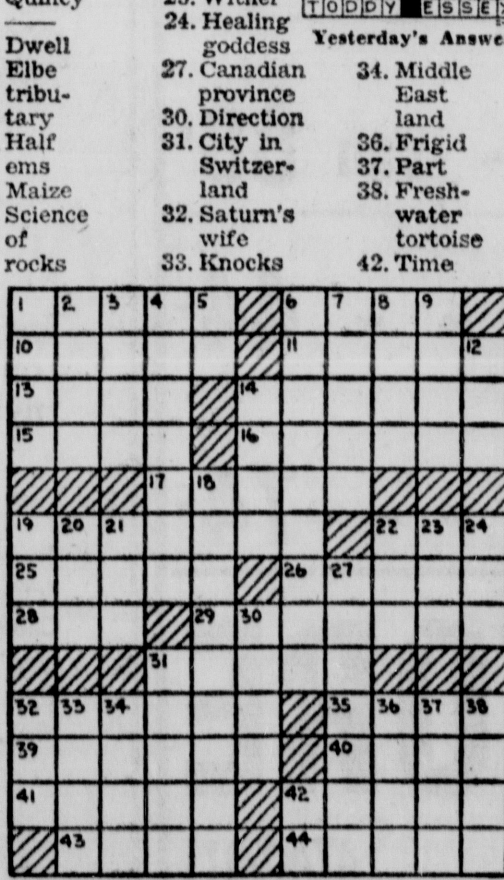

Thus, inspiration or no inspiration, somebody has to come up with a 30-minute news department program. It is pretty hard to come up on cue with something as fragile as an essay.

Recommended tonight: "Destination: North Pole," NBC, 7:30-8:30 EST, report on a recent expedition; "Music Hall," NBC, 9-10, starring Fred Astaire, dancing with Barrie Chase; "Venice: City in Danger," ABC 10-11, another in the "Saga of Western Man" series.

Competition Grows in Olympics

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Competition picked up momentum today at the 10th Winter Olympic Games after an opening day devoted mostly to ceremonial pomp and the settlement of a troublesome ski squabble.

French President Charles de Gaulle presided at the colorful ceremonies which officially opened the Games Tuesday. A crowd of some 60,000 fans jammed the Olympic Stadium to watch the festivities.

Hockey dominated the first day's athletic activities. In the opening game, the United States bowed to Czechoslovakia 5-1. In other games, Russia crushed Finland 8-0 and Canada defeated West Germany 6-1.

But the most significant opening day development was the compromise reached between the International Ski Federation and the International Olympic Committee in the ski-trademark controversy.

The IOC had clashed with the Ski Federation when the latter ruled that competitors would be allowed to use skis carrying manufacturer's names on them.

The Federation argued that covering the names with wax was impractical.

The two bodies decided that the skiers would be allowed to wear skis with company names but would not be allowed to show the trademarks at the end of a run.

The IOC had opposed the trademarks because it felt they would infringe on the strict amateurism of these games.

The squabble had threatened to eliminate skiing competition as a regular Olympic event and the settlement emerged out of an emergency meeting of the IOC Congress.

Marc Hodler of Switzerland, president of the Ski Federation, said any skier ignoring the newly adopted rule would be disqualified. He said competitors would have to leave their equipment in a special area before posing for pictures.

In Tuesday's hockey, the United States fell behind early before getting a tying goal by Doug Voimar of Minneapolis. Then Czechoslovakia scored two goals in each of the last two periods to win it.

Rhodes Urges Quick Work On River Span

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes says he favors a plan which would reduce construction time for a new bridge spanning the Ohio River to about two years.

Rhodes, who met here Tuesday with city, county and civic leaders to discuss replacing the Silver Bridge which collapsed Dec. 15, claiming more than 40 lives, reported state and federal officials had scheduled a meeting in Washington today to discuss the matter.

He said Rep. Clarence E. Miller, R-Ohio, was to represent him at the Washington meeting to be attended by federal officials, White House representatives and congressmen from Ohio and West Virginia.

At the Gallipolis meeting, Rhodes outlined three proposed sites selected by engineers of the two states to replace the Silver Bridge, which spanned the river between Kanauga, Ohio, and Point Pleasant, W. Va.

These are south of the Kanauga River between U.S. 35 in Ohio and Henderson, W. Va., or on either side of the existing Penn Central railroad bridge. The railroad span is situated near the site where the Silver Bridge stood.

Rhodes, who said Ohio and West Virginia engineers have been working closely in selecting a site, reported that cost of a new structure has been estimated at approximately $7 million.

Engineers estimate normal time required for construction at between 43 and 60 months. But Rhodes added that he favors a plan which could reduce construction time to between 18 and 24 months.

The governor said the bridge must be replaced as soon as possible. He cited $1 million monthly mileage and time cost losses to Ohio and West Virginia motorists who used the bridge but now are forced to take longer detour routes across the river.

Normal traffic over the original bridge had been estimated at 200,000 vehicles per month.

Size of Crews Said Behind Rail Strike

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Negotiations are at a standstill and so are most of the trains of the Missouri Pacific, Texas & Pacific, and Seaboard Coast railroads.

The strike by the International Brotherhood of Trainmen began Monday night against MOPAC and its subsidiary, Texas & Pacific, and spread to Seaboard Tuesday. The issue: How many men does it take to run a train?

Nearly 50,000 employees on the three lines could be affected by the strike. There was no indication of how many were observing the picket lines, although MOPAC spokesmen said most of its 23,500 employees refused to cross the lines.

MOPAC's 12-state system serves portions of the Midwest, Southwest and South. Seaboard operates in six southeastern and southern states.

After the strike started, MOPAC posted notices saying the company has the right to determine the size of crews. Harry Hammer, a public relations officer for MOPAC, said he understood these other railroads posted similar notices: Seaboard, Boston & Maine, Chesapeake & Ohio, Union Pacific, Southern & Gulf, and the Mobile & Ohio.

MOPAC serves four major arsenals, several military bases and defense manufacturers along its 12,000 miles of track. Seaboard said it has canceled all passenger service and curtailed freight service but promised to try to deliver perishable goods.

Tootle Enters Commissioner Primary Race

DICK TIFFIN TOOTLE

Dick Tiffin Tootle, is a Democratic candidate for county commissioner.

Tootle was born in Wayne Twp., Pickaway County, and has been actively engaged in farming for 25 years.

During this time he has been active in school and community affairs, having served on the Wayne Twp. Board of Education, was treasurer of the Circleville General PTA for two years, and has helped lead the local 4-H Club and Little League Baseball programs.

He served several terms on the Loan Committee of the Farmer's Home Administration. He was chairman for the county west division of the 1967 Community Fund Drive. He is now president of the Pickaway Co. Farmers' Club and is active in The First Methodist Church.

After graduating from high school, he attended Ohio University. He and his wife, Ruth, have two sons, Robert, a senior at Circleville High School and Thomas, a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Court Clears 54 Cases from Trial Docket

Pickaway County Common Pleas Court disposed of 54 cases during January in addition to holding the Carl E. Halleck murder trial on a change of venue, according to the report filed by Sara M. Dresbach, clerk of courts.

There were only 26 cases filed during the month. On Jan. 1, the court docket listed 235 cases pending, including 114 domestic relations matters, 91 other civil cases and 30 criminal cases.

On the final day of the month, there were 97 domestic relations cases, 91 other civil actions and 19 criminal cases on the docket for a total of 207.

Of the cases disposed during the month, 17 were tried to court, one was tried to jury and 36 were either settled or dismissed.

There were seven cases pending before courts of appeals. One additional case was filed and two were disposed by the Fourth District Appellate court.

Garbage Problem To Be Subject of Solons Meeting

The problem of garbage and waste disposal in Pickaway County will be the subject of a special meeting of County Commissioners and the Pickaway County Board of Health to be held 10 a. m. Thursday in the commissioners' office.

Members of city council have been invited to attend the meeting. Edward Rosendahl of the Ohio Department of Health will be present to discuss the problem of garbage and waste disposal.

Library Receives 'World in Sound'

The Pickaway County District Public Library has received the phonorecord "The World in Sound, 1967."

As narrated by Morgan Beaty, newscaster, a record of history as it happened is presented.

The record, together with the news of 1965 and that of 1966, is available for loan at the library according to Miss Jessie Cummings, acting librarian.

Air Force Chief Says Viet Bombing Effective

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William M. Momyer looked back today on three years of bombing against North Vietnam and concluded that the losses are worthwhile and the effects on the enemy widespread.

The air campaign has kept Hanoi's air force in the North and hit North Vietnamese logistics at their most vulnerable point, the commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force said. Without these factors, he suggested, allied losses in "a probable or possible expanded conflict in South Vietnam would more than offset what we've lost in terms of dedicated and heroic airmen in the North."

Regular bombing of the North began three years ago today. From the start, it has aroused international controversy, and last week's Communist attacks on 35 South Vietnam cities again raised such questions as these from critics.

—How effective have the more than 200,000 sorties been in curtailing the flow of military supplies and men to the South when the Communists can mount an attack of such proportions, their biggest offensive of the war to date?

—Is the cost in human life, planes and bombs worth it? Nearly 1,000 airmen have been killed or captured. It costs $283,800 to train a jet fighter pilot. At least 797 planes worth $1.6 billion have been downed over the North. More than one million tons of bombs have been dropped.

Momyer, who is Gen. William C. Westmoreland's deputy commander for all U.S. air operations over Vietnam and Laos

Czechs Die on Road

PRAGUE (AP) — During the first half of 1967, 885 Czechoslovaks were killed and 21,541 injured in 26,692 road accidents, the news agency CTK reports.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

gave this sumup of results:

"I think we kept most of the war in the North, in that we prevented his air force from coming down where it was a threat to our forces in South Vietnam. This is a major accomplishment in my judgment. It's permitted us to use concentrated logistical installations like Da Nang, Cam Ranh Bay and the others that otherwise would be very difficult to operate if you didn't have control of the air."

"As the consequence of this air superiority, I think it's given us more latitude to use our forces the way that we wanted to, and at the same time it has put certain restraints on his forces. This is the first thing I think we've accomplished, and I think we've done this very effectively."

"Secondly, I think we've had a major impact on disrupting his lines of communications and deploying of forces to the South. I think that we've upset his time schedule, we've interfered with the delivery of these logistics on the schedules that he needed in order to sustain the type of operations that are essential."

"And thirdly, I think that we've accomplished one of our objectives of bringing our close air support operations to a higher state of effectiveness than we've achieved at any other period in the war. We've achieved this in the last year and a half to where I'm satisfied that we're far above the effectiveness that we achieved in World War II and Korea for close air support of our ground forces."

Has the bombing significantly reduced the flow of Communist troops and supplies into South Vietnam?

"I think some people are inclined to think that an interdiction program can be set up that is absolute and that you can effectively seal off all movements of supplies, men and materiel," Momyer said. "We know from our experience in previous wars an interdiction program can't accomplish this objective."

"What it can do is disrupt and upset his time schedules, make it more difficult for him to get his troops and equipment together at the time and place that he wants them. And under a little different circumstances than you have here in South Vietnam—if you had a more formalized type of war where your army could put on extensive pressure and force him to consume logistics at a higher rate than he can replace—your interdiction program under these circumstances can be highly effective."

"So under the circumstance which we are fighting, I feel our interdiction program has been highly successful in the disruption and inconvenience and the difficulties it has placed upon his system in moving these on a regular and scheduled basis."

Without interdiction, Momyer contends, the enemy's problem "would be greatly eased. . . He could move his supplies, without any interference, he could move his base areas closer to South Vietnam. He'd be able to sustain higher levels of forces."

Such critics as Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and William Fulbright have repeatedly urged a

Knudsen Choice as Ford Chief Brings Speculation

DETROIT (AP) — Semon E. Knudsen, named president of Ford Motor Co. after resigning a top position with General Motors Corp., will take over many of Henry Ford II's duties with the nation's second largest manufacturing firm.

Ford announced Tuesday that Knudsen, 55, had been chosen as president. He said Knudsen will be the chief operating officer and take on Ford's duties as chief executive in his absence. Ford, whose grandfather founded the automotive company, remains as chairman of the board.

In Washington business circles, there were rumors that Ford might be in line for a high government post, possibly at Cabinet level. But the White House said it knew nothing of such a move, and Ford told a news conference he had no plans to take a government post "at the present time."

Only a week ago, Knudsen was an executive vice president at General Motors, the No. 1 automaker and Ford's chief competitor. But Knudsen resigned after he was passed over for the presidency of GM in favor of Edward N. Cole, who in turn replaced James Roche, now board chairman.

Knudsen, son of a former GM president, had worked for GM for nearly 30 years. He guided the Pontiac Division into third place in the industry behind Chevrolet and Ford.

Later, as manager of the Chevrolet Division Knudsen presided over sales that soared to an all-time record two million cars in one year.

After Tuesday's announcement, Ford stock went up 1 point while GM fell 1½ on the New York Stock Exchange.

Automakers will be watching to see if Knudsen's reign at Ford will result in gains for his new employer. The favorite Knudsen formula is the injection of what he calls "massive doses of engineering."

The executive shuffle—which found former Ford president Arjay Miller named to a newly created post of vice chairman—constitutes a fourth regime in Ford's postwar management.

Ford said his company had not been looking actively for a new president. "Knudsen's availability triggered the idea," he explained.

halt in the bombing to test North Vietnam's intentions to come to the peace table. Last August Kennedy said the United States can't win the war for the South Vietnamese "no matter how much we bomb North Vietnam."

Momyer's answer is this: "I think the war in the North and the war in the South are all one and the same war. The fighting that we're doing in the South and the bombing that we're doing in the North, I think, have to go on concurrently for us to have the best opportunities of achieving our objectives."

Some advocates of the bombing want the attack on North Vietnam stepped up to include Haiphong's international docks.

"The major problem I have at the moment is getting a stretch of good weather in which I can exploit the target systems that I've got assigned," Momyer said. "Once I've been able to effectively deal with these targets then I think the question of additional targets should be brought under examination."

"At the moment I have a number of targets that have regenerated as a result of the bad weather. I'm referring specifically to bridges, marshalling yards and the lines of communications in North Vietnam that are currently shielded because of the weather."

Asked for details of how the bombing is hurting North Vietnam, Momyer observed:

"I think there's a pretty good indication that he's got about 500,000 people tied up one way or another with repairing the lines of communications, reconstructing bridges. He's probably got another 100,000 to another 150,000 tied up with his defense system, so that's about three quarters of a million people that are tied down by the air campaign that otherwise could be used I would think, in supporting forces here in the South. I think this is a direct contribution that the air campaign has made. . .

"Little bits and pieces of information give me the decided impression that we are having a very adverse affect on all aspects of his civil economy and his military structure."

The North Vietnamese air force is said to still have perhaps 50 or more MIG interceptors and some bombers, but there is no verification that any of these has ever penetrated into the South.

"This is always a threat and of course we try to be prepared for such an eventuality," Momyer says.

Tootle Enters Commissioner Primary Race

DICK TIFFIN TOOTLE

Dick Tiffin Tootle, is a Democratic candidate for county commissioner.

Tootle was born in Wayne Twp., Pickaway County, and has been actively engaged in farming for 25 years.

During this time he has been active in school and community affairs, having served on the Wayne Twp. Board of Education, was treasurer of the Circleville General PTA for two years, and has helped lead the local 4-H Club and Little League Baseball programs.

He served several terms on the Loan Committee of the Farmer's Home Administration. He was chairman for the county west division of the 1967 Community Fund Drive. He is now president of the Pickaway Co. Farmers' Club and is active in The First Methodist Church.

After graduating from high school, he attended Ohio University. He and his wife, Ruth, have two sons, Robert, a senior at Circleville High School and Thomas, a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Court Clears 54 Cases from Trial Docket

Pickaway County Common Pleas Court disposed of 54 cases during January in addition to holding the Carl E. Halleck murder trial on a change of venue, according to the report filed by Sara M. Dresbach, clerk of courts.

There were only 26 cases filed during the month. On Jan. 1, the court docket listed 235 cases pending, including 114 domestic relations matters, 91 other civil cases and 30 criminal cases.

On the final day of the month, there were 97 domestic relations cases, 91 other civil actions and 19 criminal cases on the docket for a total of 207.

Of the cases disposed during the month, 17 were tried to jury and 36 were either settled or dismissed.

There were seven cases pending before courts of appeals. One additional case was filed and two were disposed by the Fourth District Appellate court.

Garbage Problem To Be Subject of Solons Meeting

The problem of garbage and waste disposal in Pickaway County will be the subject of a special meeting of County commissioners and the Pickaway County Board of Health to be held 10 a. m. Thursday in the commissioners' office.

Members of city council have been invited to attend the meeting. Edward Rosendahl of the Ohio Department of Health will be present to discuss the problem of garbage and waste disposal.

Library Receives 'World in Sound'

The Pickaway County District Public Library has received the phonorecord "The World in Sound, 1967."

As narrated by Morgan Beatty, newscaster, a record of history as it happened is presented.

The record, together with the news of 1965 and that of 1966, is available for loan at the library according to Miss Jessie Cummings, acting librarian.

Air Force Chief Says Viet Bombing Effective

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William M. Momyer looked back today on three years of bombing against North Vietnam and concluded that the losses are worthwhile and the effects on the enemy widespread.

The air campaign has kept Hanoi's air force in the North and hit North Vietnamese logistics at their most vulnerable point, the commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force said. Without these factors, he suggested, allied losses in "a probable or possible expanded conflict in South Vietnam would more than offset what we've lost in terms of dedicated and heroic airmen in the North."

Regular bombing of the North began three years ago today. From the start, it has aroused international controversy, and last week's Communist attacks on 35 South Vietnam cities again raised such questions as these from critics.

—How effective have the more than 200,000 sorties been in curtailing the flow of military supplies and men to the South when the Communists can mount an attack of such proportions, their biggest offensive of the war to date?

—Is the cost in human life, planes and bombs worth it? Nearly 1,000 airmen have been killed or captured. It costs $283,800 to train a jet fighter pilot. At least 797 planes worth $1.6 billion have been downed over the North. More than one million tons of bombs have been dropped.

Momyer, who is Gen. William C. Westmoreland's deputy commander for all U.S. air operations over Vietnam and Laos gave this sumup of results:

"I think we kept most of the war in the North, in that we prevented his air force from coming down where it was a threat to our forces in South Vietnam. This is a major accomplishment in my judgment. It's permitted us to use concentrated logistical installations like Da Nang, Cam Ranh Bay and the others that otherwise would be very difficult to operate if you didn't have control of the air."

"As the consequence of this air superiority, I think it's given us more latitude to use our forces the way that we wanted to, and at the same time it has put certain restraints on his forces. This is the first thing I think we've accomplished, and I think we've done this very effectively."

"Secondly, I think we've had a major impact on disrupting his lines of communications and deploying of forces to the South. I think that we've upset his time schedule, we've interfered with the delivery of these logistics on the schedules that he needed in order to sustain the type of operations that are essential."

"And thirdly, I think that we've accomplished one of our objectives of bringing our close air support operations to a higher state of effectiveness than we've achieved at any other period in the war. We've achieved this in the last year and a half to where I'm satisfied that we're far above the effectiveness that we achieved in World War II and Korea for close air support of our ground forces."

Has the bombing significantly reduced the flow of Communist troops and supplies into South Vietnam?

"I think some people are inclined to think that an interdiction program can be set up that is absolute and that you can effectively seal off all movements of supplies, men and materiel," Momyer said. "We know from our experience in previous wars an interdiction program can't accomplish this objective."

"What it can do is disrupt and upset his time schedules, make it more difficult for him to get his troops and equipment together at the time and place that he wants them. And under a little different circumstances than you have here in South Vietnam—if you had a more formalized type of war where your army could put on extensive pressure and force him to consume logistics at a higher rate than he can replace—your interdiction program under these circumstances can be highly effective."

"So under the circumstance which we are fighting, I feel our interdiction program has been highly successful in the disruption and inconvenience and the difficulties it has placed upon his system in moving these on a regular and scheduled basis."

Without interdiction, Momyer contends, the enemy's problem "would be greatly eased. . . He could move his supplies, without any interference, he could move his base areas closer to South Vietnam. He'd be able to sustain higher levels of forces."

Such critics as Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and William Fulbright have repeatedly urged a

Knudsen Choice as Ford Chief Brings Speculation

DETROIT (AP) — Semon E. Knudsen, named president of Ford Motor Co. after resigning a top position with General Motors Corp., will take over many of Henry Ford II's duties with the nation's second largest manufacturing firm.

Ford announced Tuesday that Knudsen, 55, had been chosen as president. He said Knudsen will be the chief operating officer and take on Ford's duties as chief executive in his absence. Ford, whose grandfather founded the automotive company, remains as chairman of the board.

In Washington business circles, there were rumors that Ford might be in line for a high government post, possibly at Cabinet level. But the White House said it knew nothing of such a move, and Ford told a news conference he had no plans to take a government post "at the present time."

Only a week ago, Knudsen was an executive vice president at General Motors, the No. 1 automaker and Ford's chief competitor. But Knudsen resigned after he was passed over for the presidency of GM in favor of Edward N. Cole, who in turn replaced James Roche, now board chairman.

Knudsen, son of a former GM president, had worked for GM for nearly 30 years. He guided the Pontiac Division into third place in the industry behind Chevrolet and Ford.

Later, as manager of the Chevrolet Division Knudsen presided over sales that soared to an all-time record two million cars in one year.

After Tuesday's announcement, Ford stock went up 1 point while GM fell 1½ on the New York Stock Exchange.

Automakers will be watching to see if Knudsen's reign at Ford will result in gains for his new employer. The favorite Knudsen formula is the injection of what he calls "massive doses of engineering."

The executive shuffle—which found former Ford president Arjay Miller named to a newly created post of vice chairman—constitutes a fourth regime in Ford's postwar management.

Ford said his company had not been looking actively for a new president. "Knudsen's availability triggered the idea," he explained.
